A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Fritz Kuhn, president of the German-American Bund, testified before the Dies Committee today that Frank Murphy, now Attorney-General of the United States, attended a Bund meeting in Detroit in 1936 and spoke for 10 minutes.

"It was at one of our meetings in a German home," Kuhn related. "What was the subject of his talk?" asked Representative Thomas (Rep., N. Jersey). "Oh, German-Americans, in general," replied Kuhn.

"Did he praise the Bund?" Thomas demanded. "No, no," was the reply. "No, he didn't praise the Bund." At that point Chairman Dies hurriedly adjourned the forenoon session.

Questioned as to Espionage. When the hearing resumed in the afternoon, Committee Counsel Rhea Whitley asked Kuhn whether he had ever had any connection with espionage activities in this country. Of course not, Kuhn shot back.

Whitley also asked whether the Bund had "pledged loyalty to any foreign country at any time." "Of course not," was the reply again.

Have you or your organization advocated dictatorship for this country? Whitley continued. "No," Kuhn replied. "Do you and your organization favor freedom of speech and the press?" "Yes," Kuhn replied.

Kuhn repeated his "noes" when asked whether the Bund maintained any secret organization, received foreign subsidies, circulated any printed or foreign currency, or favored "civil war or overthrow of the United States Government by force or violence."

Reference to Dr. Grebl. Whitley contended that Dr. I. T. Grebl, who fled this country after investigation of Nazi spy activities in New York, had served as a doctor for Bund members. He quoted from an article in the Bund organ of June 23, 1938, which said that Grebl was formerly active in a professional capacity for German-American Bunds. Kuhn denied that Grebl, though he once was president of the Friends of New Germany, had ever had any official connection with the Bund.

Third-Party Movement. At the morning session Kuhn testified that efforts are constantly being made to organize a third political party, or united front, of some 150 groups which are calling patriotic, but which the committee's examiner termed Fascist.

The witness then repudiated stenographic reports of a statement made by him five months ago to committee agents to the effect that the Bund is leader in this movement and sent a delegate to the American Christian Conference held Aug. 20, 1937, in Kansas City, at which was formed the American National Confederation, with George Deatherage as president. Deatherage is head of the Knights of the White Camella.

Kuhn admitted being present at the famous secret meeting, with George Van Horn Moseley as principal speaker, which was held at the home of Mrs. Rudyard Kipling, in the city of New York, in 1936, and that Max Kuhn was promoted to this post from one of the German state courts after Hitler rose to power.

"Did your brother's high position," Kuhn was asked, "have any influence on your appointment as president of the German-American Bund?"

This witness objected so heatedly

ICKES TO ASK CONGRESS TO OPEN ALASKA TO REFUGEE IMMIGRANTS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP).—The Interior Department will ask Congress next session to remove bars against foreign immigration into Alaska. Secretary Ickes, disclosing this, told reporters today legislative experts were drafting a bill to exclude the territory from quota provisions of the present immigration law.

Ickes came out recently as an advocate of a proposal to open Alaska to political refugees from abroad. The legislation to be introduced, he said, would make it possible for foreigners to immigrate to Alaska, but not to the United States, unless, after entering the territory, they applied for admission to the States under regular immigration quotas.

At Albany, Gov. Herbert H. Lehman ordered every available State Trooper to highway duty in the strike area to "prevent interference with lawful transportation of milk." Members of the Dairy Farmers' Union for the third day withheld milk from the New York City market in an effort to get better prices. Milk dumping and violence has marked the strike.

Meanwhile Mayor F. H. LaGuardia of New York City debated whether to permit milk shipments from Boston, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Philadelphia and Chicago milksheds.

RUMANIAN BORDER GUARDS

Bucharest Makes Announcement, but Budapest Says Is Has No Information. BUCHAREST, Aug. 17 (AP).—Two Rumanian frontier guards were killed and one was wounded by Hungarian troops, an official Rumanian announcement said tonight. The shootings occurred near the Rumanian village of Salonta Mare this afternoon, it said.

Informed quarters at Budapest said they had no information up to 8:45 p. m. It was the second Rumanian-Hungarian frontier clash reported this month.

At the beginning of August, Hungarian and Rumanian frontier guards clashed over the Tisza River on their northern border. Four Hungarian guards were reported wounded.

President En Route Toward Fishing Grounds or Into the Gulf of St. Lawrence. ABOARD U. S. S. LANG, at Sea, Aug. 17 (AP).—President Roosevelt, cruising in Canadian waters aboard the Tuscaloosa, left Sydney, Nova Scotia, today en route toward fishing grounds or into the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

The party hoped for a northwest wind to drive out to sea the heavy fog through which the Tuscaloosa had to come to reach calm waters of this Cape Breton port. The cruiser remained here overnight awaiting better weather.

The President has sailed 1000 miles since leaving New York last Saturday.

PRISONERS ON HIS BIRTHDAY

Hyderabad Ruler's Amnesty Affects Many Jailed for Rioting Against His Decrees. BOMBAY, India, Aug. 17 (AP).—The fabulously wealthy Nizam of Hyderabad freed political prisoners throughout his densely populated domain today, his 54th birthday.

Among them were many jailed after Hindu-Muslim rioting last July 27 when six persons were killed and 20 injured near the Nizam's palace.

Muslims protested that constitutional reforms the Prince recently announced would give Hindus preponderant influence in Hyderabad.

JUSTICE PIERCE BUTLER ILL
Hospital Silent on Nature of Ill-

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP).—Associate Justice Pierce Butler of the Supreme Court is a patient at Garfield Hospital here. Hospital authorities declined to give any information concerning the condition or ailment of the 73-year-old Justice, and an attending physician was said at his office to have "gone to the country" for the day. This was taken to indicate that Justice Butler was not in immediate danger.

At the same time, it was learned that he suffered an illness shortly after the close of the court term in June. He left his Washington home then for a farm he owns in Howard County, Md.

'PURITY' JONES
IN TROUBLE AGAIN
OVER MORTGAGES

Complaint Made Against Laundry Machinery Salesman Who Went to Prison for Mail Fraud.

LUNCHROOM MAN
INVESTED $16,000

Displeased by Financial Returns on His Life Savings, He Takes Matter to Circuit Attorney.

"Purity" Jones, salesman of laundry machinery and mortgages, is in hot water again with customers complaining that the mortgages have not turned out to be the glittering investments they had anticipated.

Jones, who signs his checks "David" and objects to the "Purity" nickname by which he is known in the laundry trade, was paroled in 1930 after serving 17 months of a three-year sentence for mail fraud in the sale of spurious chattel mortgages and duplicated promissory notes, issued to finance the sales of equipment manufactured by his laundry machinery firm. The loss in that crash was put at $1,000,000.

Now one of his customers has taken his complaint to the Circuit Attorney, who has the matter under consideration. The complainant is John Vopatch, owner of a small lunchroom at 11 North Ninth street, who has invested his life savings, $16,000, in a collection of Jones' chattel and real estate mortgages.

Jones, seen by a Post-Dispatch reporter, brushed aside Vopatch's complaint with a broad sweep of his arm, declaring he was the victim of persecution by "the same crowd that got me in trouble before."

"I've got nothing to be afraid of," he said. "You write what you please as long as you tell the truth, but remember, the name is David Jones, not Purity Jones."

Details of Complaint.

Vopatch told Assistant Circuit Attorney James W. Connor he began dealing with Jones two years ago after being introduced to him in the restaurant by a mutual acquaintance. He said that at the beginning he invested small amounts in chattel mortgages on laundry equipment sold by Jones at his present place of business, 117 South Broadway, on promises of handsome discounts.

The small amount, however, grew into larger ones when Jones, instead of paying off the mortgages, would sell him new and larger ones, in return for the old mortgages plus cash, Vopatch related.

His present holdings, he said, consist of a $6350 mortgage on equipment in a Springfield (Ill.) laundry, which he had thought was a first mortgage; a $3000 mortgage on other equipment in the same laundry; a $1000 mortgage on equipment in a St. Louis laundry; and a $6000 second deed of trust on the old five-story building occupied by Jones on South Broadway.

Paying on One Mortgage. Vopatch said the Springfield laundry is paying off a $1200 mortgage which is prior to his $6350 one at the rate of $35 a week and he hopes to salvage that investment if the laundry keeps up payments and a settlement is reached as to a $600 mortgage which may also be a lien prior to his.

As to the $3000 mortgage, which is on a water-softerner and washing machine in the Springfield laundry, Vopatch said he learned on a recent visit to the laundry that the washing machine had never been delivered. Jones explained this, he said, by saying the machine was in St. Louis for repairs.

Vopatch said that he verified this and then had to put up $200 for the repairs in order to get the machine to Springfield. The laundry operator has promised to start paying on the $3000 mortgage once the washer is in operation, Vopatch said.

The $1000 mortgage on equipment in the St. Louis laundry was executed by the laundry and endorsed by Jones, but the laundry insists that it has received no consideration for the mortgage, Vopatch told Connor.

Vopatch said he invested in the South Broadway second mortgage on Jones' glowing description of how the value would boom when the riverfront memorial is developed. Jones has issued a quit-claim deed to Vopatch for the property, as security against non-payment of the $100 monthly installments. This

LAFAYETTE BANK ASSETS BOOKED
AT $5,400,000

That Was Valuation in 1933 of Holdings Not Yet Sold — $4,477,914 Owed to Depositors.

$550,000 ON HAND
FOR NEW PAYMENT

After 6 Years, $587,958 of City's Guaranteed $2,000,000 Deposit Has Not Been Repaid.

Assets of the defunct Lafayette South Side Bank and Trust Co., to which a book value of $5,400,000 was assigned in 1933 remain to be liquidated to meet depositors' claims of $4,477,914, the Post-Dispatch learned today.

What will be realized from the sale of these assets cannot be stated. They consist of real estate, institutional bond issues and loans and discounts which have not been disposed of in the six years the bank has been in liquidation.

The bank's assets in 1933 had a book value of $19,427,029. Thus they have been reduced by $14,027,029, or 72 per cent.

The bank's 26,000 depositors, including the City of St. Louis, had $15,231,000 on deposit when the bank failed. They have received back $10,733,086, or 70.6 per cent.

Even though the book value of the bank's assets, as listed, was greater than the depositors' claims, the bank failed, obviously, because actual value of assets was less than the book value.

The city has a claim of $587,958 against the bank, representing the unpaid balance of a $2,000,000 deposit which was guaranteed by the bank's directors.

$550,000 Cash on Hand. P. A. Thias, vice-president of the Manufacturers' Bank & Trust Co., formed by a reorganization of the Lafayette bank, told a reporter more than $550,000 in cash is on hand, which will make possible an early 4.2 per cent liquidation payment of $600,000 within two or three months to depositors of the old bank.

Of the remaining assets, $2,700,000 is in real estate and real estate mortgages, Thias said. In 1933 the bank had loans on real estate valued at $1,000,000. The building valued at $387,940 (since sold to the Manufacturers' Bank), and other real estate of $619,732.

Much of the real estate that still remains was acquired when it became necessary to foreclose on mortgages. Thias said it was necessary to take over the property so its income could be used in paying off depositors, he added.

Assets now on hand include also bond issues of churches, colleges and hospitals, some in default, having a book value of $1,500,000. Thias said. In 1933 they totaled $5,426,512.

Loans and discounts still on hand have a book value of $1,150,000, Thias said. In 1933 they totaled $5,426,512.

Assets Already Liquidated. Other assets, listed in 1933 but liquidated since then, included Federal Reserve Bank notes $108,000; other stocks, $2,764,207; safe deposit valuations, $38,200; cash and due from banks, $1,527,823; items in transit, $9181; miscellaneous cash items, $8014, and other resources $207,886.

When the Manufacturers' Bank took over Lafayette, depositors of the old bank received 50 per cent of their deposits and 8 per cent in preferred stock which was later bought up by the bank. That left 42 per cent of depositors' claims still due. There have been three payments of 4.2 per cent of the claims.

The liquidating bank is liable to depositors of the old bank only to the extent of the money realized from sales of assets. Certain of the assets of the old bank were sold at once to special deputy State finance commissioners for liquidation.

The arrangement by which the Manufacturers' Bank is liquidating the Lafayette is unique in St. Louis in that all other State banks which failed in 1933 were placed in the hands of special deputy State finance commissioners for liquidation.

Headquarters of Two Organizations Closed in Attempt to Prevent Repetition of Events in Sudeten Territory.

WARSAW, Aug. 17 (AP).—Polish authorities announced today that Rudolf Weisner, co-leader of the German minority in Poland, had been released from custody. It was understood, however, that he must be "at the disposal of the Polish Attorney-General."

Weisner was "detained" as part of a campaign against alleged Polish activity in which a large number of Germans of Polish citizenship and several German citizens were arrested Wednesday.

It was understood Weisner was detained only a few hours for questioning and no charges were placed against him.

Foreign observers regarded detention of the German as evidence that Poland is prepared to take firm steps against Nazi leaders within its borders lest relative passivity bring a repetition of Czechoslovakia's 1939 experience with the Sudeten area, where Konrad Henlein was German minority leader.

Weisner is popularly regarded as ambitious to become the Henlein of the German minority in Poland.

Other Germans Arrested. An official announcement said "several scores" of Germans of Polish citizenship and several German citizens also had been arrested on charges of "belonging to an espionage and subversive organization having its headquarters in the German part of Silesia."

The total of these arrests is believed to be several hundreds, but German reports of 1000 arrests are sharply discounted.

Further evidence of Polish determination to clamp down sharply was seen in announcement that the headquarters of two prominent organizations among the German minority, the Young German Party and the German Trade Union Workmen, have been closed.

An official communique said the German Troops Digging Trenches

300 Feet From Polish Frontier

Barbed Wire Strung, Tank Barriers Set Up in Silesia—Brisk Military Activity Also in Region Near Corridor.

GLEIWITZ, Germany, Aug. 17.—German troops in the Upper Silesian region have dug in within 300 feet of Poland's border.

A 40-mile ride along the German-Polish border today showed that with the closing of "a section of the Polish border" yesterday German engineering troops have speeded up work on an already well developed trench system.

From behind blinds 18 feet high erected in the region of the village of Schoenwald, six miles south of here, came the sound of grinding concrete mixers, the chugging of Diesel engines carrying little material cars, and the sucking of ground water pumps.

In the middle of wheat and oat fields dungaree-clad soldiers are digging bombproof shelters and roofing in communication trenches in the shape of big jaegers, and the Polish border patrol house, nine-yard-wide stretches of barbed wire were seen to extend over the rolling farms to the right and left.

Directly behind this maze of wire stand rusty iron tank obstacles, and in the distance around the outskirts of this city, originally Czechoslovak, are the remains of the town of Knurow said he had been given no information as to why the border here had been closed.

"Yesterday afternoon," he said, "our border police came up and told me that until further orders the border between here and Schoenwald should remain closed."

A second Polish customs agent on the border at Beuthen said: "So long as you have a passport you can cross our border."

Germans said, however, that permission for passes for local persons to go from one side of the border to the other to work and to market had been withdrawn by the Polish authorities.

Military Concentration in German Area Near Corridor. SCHNEIDEMUEHL, Germany, Aug. 17 (AP).—German military activity, with little attempt at covering it up, is under way along the Polish border between Schneidemuehl and Schlochau, 14 miles north of here. This was revealed in a 150-mile automobile tour of the area today, over German roads, in some cases very close to the Polish boundary.

Along the highways, military units busily were stringing miles of new communication wires, some on old poles, others on trees.

Besides regular army cars, automobiles and trucks, commandeered from private owners and stenciled with Army symbols, were being used for transport purposes. They stood at intervals, for example, everywhere along the main highway at Schlochau, south to Landau.

Settlement of Issues Involving 1,000,000 Nationals in Poland Added to List—Germany Wants Direct Negotiations.

MILITARY ACTIVITY IS SPEEDED UP

Stretch Along Southwest Frontier Being Fortified—Large Numbers of Fresh Soldiers Reported Sent Into Area.

BERLIN, Aug. 17 (AP).—Guarded hints were thrown out today that Germany has left the door open to Poland for direct negotiations over Danzig but that a bigger issue than mere unconditional return of the Free City to Germany is at stake.

Sources close to the Foreign Office and newspaper articles conveyed the growing impression that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's previous proposal to Poland for a combined highway and railway track across Pomorze no longer would meet Germany's requirements.

Pomorze is the strip of land known as the Polish Corridor which separates German East Prussia from Germany proper.

Circles close to the Government said they considered the time ripe for the settlement of issues involving the fate of more than 1,000,000 nationals living in the Polish regions bordering on Germany. These sources said the viewpoint is rapidly gaining ground that Danzig is not enough and that Germany should increase its demands. They said Danzig was no bargaining point at all.

View Is It's Reich's Business.

Semiofficial and controlled press comment was to the effect that it was nobody's business but Germany's and Poland's to solve the problem of Danzig and the corridor.

The press indicated Germany would prefer direct dealings with Poland and denied reports that another Munich settlement, involving other German minorities, was being discussed. They said Danzig was no bargaining point at all.

Fortifications Strengthened.

Although the opinion prevailed among observers that a Danzig-Pomorze solution would be a bloodless one, Germany went ahead with military measures designed to prepare the Reich for any emergency.

Western fortifications facing France have been strengthened, and German troops "in large numbers" have arrived there within the last week. Work on troop emplacements on the German side of the border was reported.

The Hungarian Foreign Minister, Count Stefan Casky, has a second conference today with the German Foreign Minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop, at Von Ribbentrop's summer home at Fuschl Castle near Salzburg. Officially, Casky's visit is treated as a private one, but informed circles said the Polish question was the main theme of the two-hour conversation yesterday.

Hitler met with the chief of his air force, the head of his press department and his Foreign Minister

BRITISH PALESTINE PLAN DISAPPROVED BY LEAGUE GROUP

Recommendation 4 to 3 Against Limiting Jewish Immigration Will Go to Council Next Month.

UNANIMOUS ON OTHER POINT RAISED

Commission Holds New Policy Not in Accord With Previous Interpretation of Mandate.

GENEVA, Aug. 17 (AP).—The League of Nations Mandates Commission published a report to the Council today showing that four members out of seven definitely disapproved of Great Britain's plan for an Arab-dominated state in Palestine.

Britain holds Palestine under a mandate of the League whose consent is required for any change in the terms of the mandate.

The other three members of the commission found that "existing circumstances" justified the British Government's May 17 white paper limiting Jewish immigration into Palestine.

A final decision on recommendations to be transmitted to Britain was left to the Council meeting next month.

The report was considered a victory by delegates to the world Zionist Congress, meeting in Geneva to plan a campaign for continuance of the Jewish national home in Palestine despite the British Government's new policy.

The Mandates Commission reported unanimously that the new policy was not in accord with the interpretation that had previously been placed on Great Britain's mandate over Palestine.

deck and Jastrow. Their crews were busy running copper wire off spools and fastening it to telegraph poles.

Schneidmühl is five miles from the border and about 50 miles west of Bydgoszcz, formerly Bromberg, in the Polish Corridor.

At almost all side roads leading into Poland, as well as other directions, sentries were stationed with guns over their shoulders. None of these roads were barricaded to traffic, however.

The country is alternately flat and rolling, with much of it tilted between sections of heavy forest.

Farmhands harvested, plowed and tended their flocks alongside soldiers in work uniforms who appeared to be digging entrenchments and gun emplacements. No cannon was in evidence, however.

At many places, barbed wire entanglements were already in place. There were great stores of lumber, wire and metal shovels, or encampments of field and kitchen wagons all carefully guarded.

Soldiers, many of whom also seemed to be helping the farmers in the fields, were in every village and town—encamped in farmyards or quartered in homes. Roads were alive with trucks and motorcycles driven by men in army uniforms, but no troops or equipment movements were observed.

Polish Ambassador Says Attempt to Take Dantzig Would Mean War. WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP).—Count Jerzy Potocki, Polish Ambassador, declared yesterday that any attempt by Germany to incorporate Dantzig in the Reich would mean war. He made the statement to reporters after a half hour's conference with Sumner Welles, Acting Secretary of State, regarding the tension over the Free City. He said Poland had no connection with any of the reported moves in Europe toward appeasement.

"Matters seem to be working up toward a crisis," Potocki added, describing the period between now and Oct. 1 as critical.

He said that last April the Polish Foreign Minister declared Poland's willingness to negotiate the question of Dantzig with Germany but that since that time "Germany has shown no disposition to negotiate but has continued as in the past her campaign to get Dantzig for herself."

The Ambassador contended Dantzig was vitally important to Poland and that his country would fight to keep it from falling into Hitler's hands.

At a press conference earlier in the day, Acting Secretary Welles said that he was keeping President Roosevelt, now on a vacation cruise, informed by radio of everything of any importance regarding the European situation.

action was taken because of evidence of the "existence of an organization in German Silesia for espionage regarding military activities along the Polish frontier."

Polish Policemen Attacked. The Polish telegraph agency reported that a group of young Nazis attacked Polish policemen in charge of Polish passport control at the front station of Leuthen, in German Silesia, yesterday.

The agency said that one Polish policeman was slapped and another thrown on the floor while German onlookers watched "with complete indifference."

Border formalities are carried on by officers of both Germany and Poland at Leuthen.

POLAND CLOSES SOUTHWEST BORDER

MAEHRSCH - OSTRAU, Bohemia-Moravia, Aug. 17 (AP).—The newspaper Landesszeitung reported today that Poland has closed its entire southwest frontier between Poland and both the German protectorate of Bohemia-Moravia and Slovakia. The road leading over the Jajunka Pass had been shut off completely by the Poles.

Czechs in the Olsa region, now belonging to Poland, the Landesszeitung further stated, have been crowded almost entirely out of their former homeland. Such men as have been permitted to remain were being admonished to fight on Poland's side "in the coming campaign against Germany," it said.

Burckhardt Continues Efforts to Solve Problem. DANZIG, Aug. 17 (AP).—Marion Chodacki, Polish Commissioner-General, returned today after a quick overnight trip to Warsaw, and well informed quarters anticipated another meeting with Dantzig's Senate President, Arthur Greiser.

The secrecy which has surrounded the efforts of Prof. Carl J. Burckhardt, League of Nations High Commissioner, to bring Polish and Dantzig officials together, continued today.

Chodacki and Greiser conferred yesterday in what was described as a "friendly atmosphere" and Burckhardt's office said the meetings would be resumed but set no specific time for further talks.

Observers said it seemed obvious that Chodacki had gone to Warsaw to consult his Government on some phase of yesterday's discussions.

WIFE WHO ADMITS POISONING HUSBAND TAKEN TO PRISON

GREENVILLE, Mo., Aug. 17 (AP).—Mrs. Louise Myers, confessed poison killer of her husband, Grover C. Myers, a WPA supervisor, was taken to Jefferson City today to begin a life sentence in the State penitentiary.

Mrs. Myers abruptly halted her trial on charges of murder Tuesday and asked for permission to plead guilty. She admitted having placed poison used to kill potato bugs in some home-made wine which Myers occasionally drank.

Oscar Stroup, charged with complicity in the crime, will be tried at the February term of court. Mrs. Myers said he urged her to poison her husband so they could be married.

RUSSIAN REVOLT OF '17 BROUGHT UP AT BRIDGES TRIAL

Walter Thompson, Second Stanford Professor Called, Insists It Was Won by Majority.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—The Russian revolution was figuratively refought today at the hearing on proceedings to deport Harry Bridges, Australian-born West Coast labor leader. On one side was slighted, bald Prof. Walter Thompson, a sociologist of Stanford University. He traced briefly the October, 1917 revolution in Russia, and declared the Bolsheviks achieved a majority and accomplished the revolution only after "a long period of counter-revolution" by the military.

Immediately Thomas B. Shoemaker, chief of the Government's legal staff, took issue. Shoemaker directed the prosecution of Bridges, exclaiming: "Do you mean to tell me the Russian revolution was achieved by a majority?"

Thompson stood on his statement that this was true. Thompson was the second member of the Stanford University faculty engaged by Bridges' defense counsel to expound his views on Marxist theory. He was preceded by Prof. Harold Chapman Brown, head of Stanford's department of philosophy.

The charges against Bridges are two: That he is a member of the Communist party, and that the party advocated overthrow of the Government by force.

Bridges' attorneys and the defense himself have denied that he is or ever was a member of the Communist party. The defense of Marxist ideology has been undertaken in the event Dean James M. Landis, trial examiner, disagrees, and decides sufficient has been introduced to prove Bridges a Communist.

Marxist Theory. Yesterday Brown, and today Thompson denied that Marx, or his most important followers, Lenin and Stalin, advocated forceful overthrow of government.

Marx argued, Thompson declared, "that Communism would come not because men will it, but because it was an inevitable consequence of historical development."

"If the Communist party (of the United States) does advise or advocate the overthrow of the government of the United States by force and violence, it is departing from the teachings of Marx and Engels not only in theory but in practice."

"If they would have advised a relatively small band of their followers to advocate the overthrow of the Government of the United States by force and violence is too ridiculous to warrant consideration."

Shoemaker quoted a section of a book by M. O. "Why Communism?" wherein it was stated that the revolution is "impossible without force and violence."

Then the Crowd Laughed. Thompson repeated he had read this book but had not been impressed because he felt it "was too much foam and too little beer."

The courtroom roared, and Shoemaker, thinking the laughter was directed at him, snapped: "Well, the Communist party thought enough of it to print a quarter of a million copies."

Interest in Stanley Morton (Larry) Doyle was heightened by the report he talked to reporters in New Ulm, Minn. Doyle, investigator of subversive activities, has dodged a subpoena obtained by the defense.

It was learned that Dean Landis had written Secretary of Labor Perkins suggesting she take up with Attorney General Murphy a means to make effective service of the Doyle subpoena.

Doyle is the alleged mainpring behind a conspiracy to deport Bridges, the defense asserts.

Gives Away 2600 Garbage Cans. CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (AP).—City officials complained about the difficulty in keeping streets and alleys clean in the Thirty-second Ward because there just weren't enough garbage cans. Therefore, Alderman Joseph P. Rostenkowski, instead of passing out cigars to his constituents, is giving away garbage cans, 2600 of them.

DOG'S TRUST FUND TOSSES PROBLEM INTO OFFICIAL LAP

Flossie Must Get Registered Letter, Under Maryland Law, Sign for It—How?

BALTIMORE, Aug. 17 (AP).—These are dog days in Maryland legal circles—the law says a lapdog Flossie must get a registered letter and sign for it but doesn't say how.

John H. Bouse, register of wills in Baltimore City, sees his duty but doesn't know how to do it and he prepared today to toss the Flossie cause into the lap of State's Attorney William C. Walsh for an official decision.

Flossie was the devoted companion of Mrs. Mary R. Herman, who died and in her will set up a $2000 trust fund to insure the care of her pet. But Maryland probate law specifies the register of wills must advise any legatee by registered mail of his legacy and the legatee must sign for the letter.

Bouse can think of only two solutions: Maybe a guardian can be appointed with powers to sign for Flossie, or the legatee can be given the paw print on the receipt which he accepted for her "X."

Bouse won't make a move until he gets an official opinion—meanwhile Flossie is staying with friends until he dog-biscuit funds come out of litigation.

JAPANESE EXPRESS REGRETS FOR SLAPPING OF WOMAN

Military Authorities Say They Are Investigating Incident Involving American, Mrs. Mary Richard.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP).—Sumner Welles, acting Secretary of State, announced today Japanese military authorities had expressed regret that a sentry had slapped Mrs. Mary Frances Richard of San Francisco.

The incident occurred Monday night as Mrs. Richard sought to pass a blockade at Tientsin.

The Japanese Embassy at Peking, conveying the regrets to the American consulate there, stated it was making a thorough investigation of the case, Welles said.

Ministers to Meet Tuesday. It was disclosed today that Prime Minister Chamberlain would return to London from his fishing excursion in Scotland to confer next Tuesday with Lord Halifax and possibly other members of the "inner Cabinet" on the international situation.

Official circles emphasized there could be no compromise on Britain's intention to back Poland on the Danzig issue, and for the second straight day a lengthy editorial on the situation appeared in the authoritative Times asserting "nothing whatever" could be done "without full agreement of the Polish Government."

It added that "one of the more satisfactory points of the last two days has been that a certain abatement of the abuse of Poland and Great Britain has been noticed in the German press" and concluded, "the voice of common sense can be better heard when the clamor of propaganda is silent."

EX-MILLIONAIRE RELEASED FROM DEBTOR'S ROW IN JAIL

Chicago Judge Decides Mallico Count Against Him in $2000 Judgment.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (AP).—John Raklows, 60 years old, who rose from a fruit vendor in Chicago's loop to the ownership of a restaurant chain, once valued at $4,000,000, was freed from debtor's row in the Cook County jail yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus. He was sent to jail last July 31 on a malice count in a $2000 judgment obtained by Samuel L. Circuit Judge Feinberg ruled the malice count was faulty and Raklows would be free, at least until the Supreme Court has ruled on legal points involved in the case.

COOGAN SETTLEMENT APPROVED

Movie Actor to Get $126,000 of Earnings as Child Star.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17 (AP).—Jackie Coogan's long fight for a share in his earnings as a child movie star ended yesterday with Superior Court approval of an agreement giving him $126,000. The amount went to his mother and his stepfather, Arthur Bernstein. Coogan's attorney said Jackie's share would go into a life-time trust fund.

Young Coogan started his action for an accounting of earnings, more than a year ago. A preliminary settlement was reached last April pending liquidation of parts of the Coogan-Bernstein holdings.

BRITAIN WATCHES CALMLY, SPEEDS WAR PREPARATION

Plans Announced for Registration of Manpower and Compulsory War-Risk Real Estate Insurance.

LONDON, Aug. 17 (AP).—Great Britain met war talk and peace moves today with further preparedness and calm insistence that the European situation called for no initiative from the British-French front.

An announcement of plans for national registration of man power in event of war was followed by a statement that the Association of British Chambers of Commerce had drafted a plan for Government-sponsored, compulsory war-risk insurance of real estate to be considered after Parliament reconvenes.

"Serious but Not Alarming." Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax resumed his vacation in Yorkshire today after talks with the Polish and Turkish ambassadors. His departure was taken as emphasizing the British view that the Danzig situation is "serious but not alarming." Official circles attributed the flood of rumors to the fact that Germany's "war of nerves."

The British Government, these sources said, expects "every imaginable rumor of imminent war or possible peace will go the round of the capitals," while "increasing German pressure" is put on Poland in an attempt to force Danzig concessions.

Informed quarters said that the Moscow staff talks among French, British and Russian military experts were proceeding satisfactorily and that the frequency of the meetings was taken as a good omen for successful conclusion of a mutual assistance pact.

The spokesman acknowledged that some "duds" might have landed and some British crew members aboard the ships might have been wounded, "which is to be regretted if true." But it argued that such casualties would be regarded as unavoidable because of the proximity of Chinese munitions dumps to British property.

JAPAN WON'T ACCEPT BLAME FOR BOMBING

Army Spokesman Says British Steamers Were Destroyed by Other Causes.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 17 (AP).—A Japanese army spokesman disclosed today that Japan had refused to accept responsibility for the destruction of two British ships in air raids on Ichang Aug. 6.

The British had protested the bombings in which two Yangtze River steamers "were destroyed near Ichang, about 1000 miles upriver from here, and the British gunboat Gannet narrowly escaped damage. Four Chinese were killed and a Canadian and four Chinese injured in the raids."

The Japanese asserted that the commander of the bombers remained over Ichang for 10 minutes and saw no signs of any vessels afire.

"Therefore if an British vessel was 'burned,' the spokesman said, "it is presumed the ship was set afire at some other moment and owing to some other cause having nothing to do with the bombardments."

He spoke of some "mysterious cause" for the fires and said the British should present further proof to support their charge that Japanese air bombs were to blame.

The spokesman acknowledged that some "duds" might have landed and some British crew members aboard the ships might have been wounded, "which is to be regretted if true." But it argued that such casualties would be regarded as unavoidable because of the proximity of Chinese munitions dumps to British property.

GOVERNMENT TAKES DIRECT APPEAL FROM DECISION DISMISSING CHICAGO INDICTMENTS. CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (AP).—The Government obtained permission today to appeal directly to the United States Supreme Court from a District Court decision dismissing an indictment against 37 defendants, alleging a monopoly in the milk industry.

The indictment accused 14 corporations, associations and groups and 43 individuals of conspiring to fix milk prices, control the supply and suppress competition in the Chicago milk industry.

Leo F. Tierney, Assistant Attorney-General who directed prosecution of the case, appeared before the United States District Judge Charles E. Woodward to apply for permission to appeal from the judge's order.

Another indictment accusing 20 individuals and 20 corporations of conspiracy to restrain the sale of ice cream counter freezers still is pending.

200 French Warplanes 'Raid' English Cities in Maneuvers

British Air Force, Co-operating in Night Games, Tests Its Defenses Against Invaders.

PARIS, Aug. 17 (AP).—More than 200 French bombers and fast fighters "raided" population centers of England last night in reciprocal British-French warplane tests and returned to their bases today reporting all objectives had been reached.

And Air Ministry communiques said the planes simulated attacks on London, Liverpool, Bristol, Birmingham, Manchester and Oxford. British anti-aircraft batteries were trained on the French raiders outside London.

Two squadrons of fighters preceded the bombing planes across the English Channel.

The communiqué emphasized that the "raid" the first made by the French following British flights over France in July, was in co-operation with the British Air Force which tested its defenses against the invaders.

No hint of such a flight appeared in the French press.

Air Minister Guy La Chambre and Premier Daladier, it was said, planned the spectacular night flight as a demonstration of the striking power of France's rejuvenated air force.

100 French Bombers Fly Over London in War Test. LONDON, Aug. 17 (AP).—Great Britain tested the resourcefulness of its fighter planes against war planes of France, its pledged ally, in a demonstration of the sky strength of the two Powers which brought more than 100 French bombers over London today.

Exercises were split into two parts as France reciprocated the plane tests British aircraft made over France on July 11, 14 and 19. French bombers made a surprise flight over Britain last night while the nation slept—with the important exception of anti-aircraft gun and searching crews.

The French penetrated as far as Liverpool and returned to their own bases.

Today more than 100 French bombers crossed the channel for mimic war drills with British fighter or pursuit planes acting as interceptors along the coast.

The exercise came to a climax over the London metropolitan area. Sixty French fighters flanked the bombers on the outskirts of London to escort the bombers home.

that some "duds" might have landed and some British crew members aboard the ships might have been wounded, "which is to be regretted if true." But it argued that such casualties would be regarded as unavoidable because of the proximity of Chinese munitions dumps to British property.

WPA HEAD BARS ALL POLITICAL ACTIVITY

Commissioner Harrington Letter Interprets Law for His Employees.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP).—WPA Commissioner Harrington interpreted the latest relief appropriation act to require the discharge of any WPA administrative or supervisory employee who gets into politics even to the extent of making a campaign for constable. The act contained amendments which were born in part of charges of undue politics among WPA personnel in political campaigns. Harrington ruled in a general letter published today that a WPA administrative-supervisory employee would lose his job, if:

"Such person is a candidate for any Federal, State, district, county or municipal office in any primary, general or special election or who is serving as a campaign manager or assistant thereto for any such candidate."

"Such person is holding an elective office the duties of which would necessitate being absent from WPA position during regular working hours or to which a salary, pension, or other compensation is attached, provided that under no circumstances shall such person hold any public office through which such person would be involved in political management or political campaigns."

"Such person is a member of party committee or organization the duties of which are concerned with political management or political campaigns."

15 SUBWAY TRAINS CAUGHT IN QUEENS BOROUGH FLOOD

Cloudburst Lasts an Hour; Underpass on Principal Street Under Flood of Water.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP).—Cloudburst in Queens Borough trapped 3000 passengers in subway trains yesterday and resulted in the death of one man and injury of others trying to escape the deluge.

Starting at noon, the 15-up-and-down trains running on the main line, and stretched into the last seven-year history of the independent system which carries a million passengers daily.

Those in the trains caught in floods yesterday in the subway tubes were led to safety along city streets.

The downpour, which lasted about an hour over a 12-square mile area, gushed through sidewalk drains to a depth of several feet on the underground tracks. On the surface, the storm caused mile-long traffic jams.

Queens Borough's busiest thoroughfare, Grand Central Parkway, was blocked off for two miles because of flooded underpasses. At one, the water was 10 feet deep.

EX-SECRETARY OF REALTY FIRM SUES TO EXAMINE ITS BOOKS

E. L. Hartrich Seeks Writ of Mandamus Against John S. Blake & Bro.

Suit for a writ of mandamus to force the John S. Blake & Bro. Realty Co., 815 Chestnut street, to permit examination of its books and records, was filed in Circuit Court today by E. L. Hartrich, former secretary of the firm and a stockholder.

The petition asserts that Hartrich, who owns 50 shares of common and one of preferred stock, asked for permission to examine the records in February but that his request was denied by Fred A. Blake, vice-president and treasurer of the firm.

Hartrich, who lives at 7016 Kingsbury boulevard, University City, resigned his position with the firm about two years ago and now is a salesman for another real estate company. Fred Blake declined to comment on the suit.

CRACK REMOVAL ON LEVEE TO COST CITY $1,100,000

This Will Be One-T-third of Expense of Eliminating Elevated Line and Relocating Others.

PART FROM GRADE CROSSING FUNDS

Government Offers to Make Available $900,000 From Memorial Bond Issue Voted in 1935

Nearly a third of the cost of eliminating the levee elevated tracks of the Terminal Railroad in the riverfront memorial area and of relocating other tracks to permit use of the railroad deck of Municipal Bridge by the Terminal's proprietary trunk lines would be paid by the city, under the proposed settlement now being discussed, it was learned today.

Mayor Bernard F. Dickmann told reporters the city would offer to furnish $200,000 from its balance in old bond items for grade crossing elimination.

In addition, he said, it had been indicated by Frank C. Wright, special assistant to the directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and representative of Secretary of the Interior Ickes, that the Government would make $900,000 available from the riverfront memorial fund.

From City's Contribution.

Any such payment from the riverfront fund would come from the $2,500,000 the city contributed to it from a special bond issue of 1935. The Government's contribution of $4,750,000 to the fund was virtually exhausted by the recent payments to property owners for the site, while the remainder reverted to the Federal Treasury at the close of the fiscal year, June 30.

The city's total payment for the work, therefore, would amount to $1,100,000. Railroad and city engineers have estimated cost of removal and relocation of the tracks at $2,500,000, of which $1,500,000 is for work in St. Louis and the rest for changes on the East Side.

Mayor Dickmann also disclosed today, after a meeting with the department heads on the proposed settlement over terms under which the railroad deck of Municipal Bridge can be used by the Terminal, that the city is seeking removal of the Missouri Pacific tracks on Poplar street as an additional condition.

This will be one of the points discussed with Philip J. Watson Jr., president of the Terminal, at a meeting tomorrow morning, the Mayor said. The compromise proposal, as already has been disclosed, contemplates removal of the elevated rail structure in the riverfront memorial area, use of the Municipal Bridge by the Terminal and its proprietary trunk lines, and leasing by the city of the highway deck of Eads Bridge.

30-Year-Old Problem.

The Mayor explained that elimination of the tracks which extend on Poplar street from the levee to Eighth street before turning into regular railroad yards was an essential part of the plans because of their proximity to the riverfront memorial area and the traffic situation they created, especially on Broadway. "This is a problem which has been awaiting solution for 30 years," he said.

Mayor Dickmann said he was confident a definite agreement on the proposals would be reached at tomorrow's meeting, in which Watson will confer with the Board of Estimate and Apportionment and the Municipal Bridge Commission, an ex-officio body of city officials which controls the bridge. The proposal will be placed in writing before the meeting, he said, and an attempt made to clear up any points which remain at issue.

Among the matters which remain to be cleared up are the city's contention that the $300,000 annual rental for Eads bridge proposed by the Terminal is too high, and the question of how many railroads would use the Municipal Bridge and when use would begin.

NEGRO LAW SCHOOL TO OPEN HERE SEPT. 20

Old Poro College Building Chosen as Site of State Institution.

Missouri's first State-maintained Negro law school will be opened in the old Poro College building, 4300 St. Ferdinand avenue, Sept. 20, the Post-Dispatch was told today by Louis E. Taylor, recently named dean of the new institution.

Workmen already are making the few alterations necessary to convert the three-story, fireproof, brick structure to its new uses, he said, and it is certain to be ready in time for the beginning of the academic year.

Establishment of the institution under the direction of the board of curators of Lincoln University, who leased the building, was made necessary by the decision last Dec. 12 of the Supreme Court of the United States that Missouri must either admit Negroes to the law school of the University of Missouri at Columbia or provide equal instruction for them elsewhere.

60 Freshmen Expected.

Taylor, who is on leave of absence from the law faculty of Howard University, Washington, for two years, said he expected an enrollment of about 60 first-year students. Instruction in the two upper classes also will be provided for any transfer students applying for admission.

First-year students must have completed 60 credit-hours of college work, the equivalent of three academic years. This requirement, Taylor pointed out, meets the standards of the Association of American Law Schools and is somewhat higher than those of the Council on Legal Education and Admission to the Bar of the American Bar Association. A plan is being formulated, he added, whereby Lincoln University, at Jefferson City, and the new law school will offer a combined six-year course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Laws.

Taylor is now seeking four full-time professors and a librarian. An initial order for 10,000 volumes, to form the nucleus of the school's library, has been placed.

Association Membership Sought.

It is the dean's hope to have the school admitted to the Association of American Law Schools even before its formal opening. Howard University's law school was admitted to this group during Taylor's term as its acting dean. The new school, he said, can easily become the outstanding Negro law school of the country.

The college building was erected in 1921 by Mrs. Annie Malone, Negro, manufacturer of a hair lotion, but, except for a motion picture theater and a few stores, the ground floor, it has been vacant since she moved her business to Chicago eight years ago. It is being remodeled to provide offices and classrooms on the first two floors. The third floor will be given over to dormitories. There will be no tuition charge for residents of Missouri, but out-of-state students will pay a fee of $40 a year.

Taylor is a graduate of the University of Iowa. After practice in Des Moines and Chicago, he joined the Howard faculty in 1929.

to this interrogation that Chairman Dies rebuked him as being "an unruly and unresponsive witness."

Finally Kuhn replied with an emphatic "No!"

In view of Kuhn's admission that many members of the German-American Bund have been on to why $3000 raised through contributions was not given to them instead of a German charity, the Winter-Help. Kuhn had testified that he sent out appeals for this fund, that 2000 donors responded and that he gave the money, in 100 American bills, to Hitler during the Olympic Games of 1936.

His reply was a mumbled reference to collections in New York suburbs for the Spanish Loyalists and the destitute in China.

About "Our Battle."

He was shown a membership certificate of 1937 containing the phrase, "The fifth year of our battle."

"What battle?" he was asked.

"To unite the German-American element in its defense."

"Against whom?"

"American groups that were persecuting us."

Pressed to identify these groups, Kuhn was able only to remember the Communist party and the Non-Sectarian League.

The witness denied that, to his knowledge, the Chicago post of the German-American Bund carried on an active correspondence with Government agents in Germany.

"Didn't you order all correspondence of the Chicago post destroyed before our examiners could get there?"

"I did!" shouted the Bund president.

"And it was destroyed?"

"I hope so!"

Kuhn denied that the Bund unit in Buffalo had recently broken away from the national organization and taken the name of "Spring Garden Association."

MAN WHO TOLD KIDNAPING STORY GETS SUSPENDED FINE

Trapped by Lie Detector, He Says He Devised Tale to Cover Absence From Home.

John Cathcart, Peru (Ind.) salesman, who admitted to police yesterday, after a lie detector test, that his story of having been kidnapped Monday from Indianapolis was untrue, pleaded guilty of making a false report today and was fined $50 by Police Judge James F. Nanke.

The fine was suspended. Cathcart, who sells artificial limbs for a St. Louis concern, said that he devised the story to account for his absence from home. He explained he had been having trouble in his family and had planned to commit suicide, but had lost his nerve.

CITY WON'T FIGHT GAS RATES GOING IN EFFECT SEPT. 1

City Counselor, However, Will Resist Proposal That Laclede Co. Get $430,000 of Refund.

The new rate schedule of the Laclede Gas Light Co., providing an average reduction of about 7 per cent for domestic and commercial gas users in St. Louis and a somewhat larger reduction for gas heating customers, will not be contested by the city and will go into effect Sept. 1 as ordered Tuesday by the Missouri Public Service Commission, it appeared today.

City Counselor Edgar H. Wayman said he would confer on the rate schedule with his associate, Harold Hanke, who has been in charge of the case, but did not think the city would attempt to offer any opposition.

In view of the fact, Wayman said, that the new rates would not enable the gas company to earn 6 1/2 per cent on its valuation, set as a fair rate of return by the commission and in court rulings, he said, he did not think the city could succeed in getting larger reductions at present.

Opposes Refund Proposal.

Wayman added, however, that the city would not accept the recommendation of the commission for a compromise division of the impounded rate fund of the Laclede company, but instead would attempt to secure the entire amount, about $1,500,000, for consumers.

Mayor Bernard F. Dickmann told reporters he also believed the entire sum should go to consumers and would support Wayman's stand on the matter.

The fund represents the excess collected by the company from about 180,000 customers during litigation over a 6 per cent rate reduction ordered in 1934. It was the commission's recommendation that $1,066,668 be returned to the consumers and the rest, or about $430,000, given to the company.

This was the settlement proposal offered by the company last July 8, at the conclusion of hearing before the commission on its new rate schedule and the reopened 1934 rate and valuation case. The compromise was based on the theory that excess rates collected before the company began paying a 5 per cent rate tax on its gross receipts in May, 1933, should go to the consumers, and those collected subsequently go to the company.

City's Contentions.

It has been the city's contention all along that the entire fund should go to consumers. Wayman said he had studied the report of the commission and that the city had determined there was no reason to change its stand.

The commission's recommendation has no legal force, and the city is under no compulsion to accept it. The fund is under the jurisdiction of the Cole County Circuit Court, which in 1935 ordered the impounding of the excess rates after appeals by both the city and the company from the 1934 rate order.

Wayman said that if the company filed a motion with the Court seeking to put the recommendation of the Public Service Commission into effect, he would oppose the motion. If the company takes no action, he plans to file a request with the Court that all of the fund go to the consumers.

SALES OF FLUID MILK HERE IN JULY HIGHEST ON RECORD

Price for Month This Year for Grade A Was 10 Cents Against 13 Last Year.

Fluid milk sales in July were the highest on record, it was shown today by the monthly report of David L. Shipley, milk market administrator. During the month, 18,029,822 pounds of milk were sold for fluid consumption, an increase of 16.8 per cent above July last year.

In July last year, the retail price of milk was 13 cents a quart; this year the price for Grade A milk was 10 cents. The price of Grade A milk was raised to 12 cents a quart on Aug. 7. July was the eleventh consecutive month that Class 1, or fluid milk sales, exceeded sales for the corresponding month in the preceding year.

The total amount of milk sold in St. Louis in July, including Class 2, that used for milk products, was 28,385,067 pounds, a decrease of 12 per cent as compared with the preceding month and an increase of 8.7 per cent over July, 1938. The number of producers in July was 4499, in June, 4480, and in July last year, 4541. Daily production for each farm was 204 pounds, 28 less than in June and 34 more than in July, 1938. Price to producers of Class 1 milk was $2.20 a hundredweight and of Class 2, $1.21.

as the Final Production of the 1939 Season

Week Beginning Monday Night, Aug. 21

This musical spectacle scored a tremendous success in leading European cities, including London, which originally staged "Wild Violets" and "Glamorous Night," two spectacular hits given their first American performances at the Municipal Opera.

Paul Abraham, one of the greatest of contemporary operetta composers for the stage and screen, has written a captivating score of lilting songs. London critics have described the music as the kind which "lingers in the memory of the listeners."

Outstanding numbers are "Pardon Madame," "Land of Song," "Do-Do," "Star of My Night," "Mousie" and "Good-Night."

The book has been acclaimed as one of the finest writings ever put together for the stage anywhere. So excellent is the story that it could be presented without the great music and still be successful. Famous librettists are responsible for the tale, which offers thrilling backgrounds in modern Siberia, Russia, Japan and Hungary.

An unbeatable combination of talent has been engaged for the final production. HELEN GLEASON, outstanding soprano of the New York Metropolitan Opera Co., star of the 1937 Municipal Opera season, returns, as does HOPE MANNING, prima donna star of last summer's "Gentlemen Unafraid."

Current season favorites are LANSING HATFIELD, ROBERT CHISHOLM, DORIS PATSTON, CHARLES KEMPER, BILLY TAYLOR and others.

The great international dancer, NIMURA, who has been described as the greatest dancer since Nijinski, will make his St. Louis debut in the new production.

BE A FIRST NIGHTER! Attend Monday night's performance so you can be the first in America to carry away the thrills of a sure-fire smash hit. All Europe has acclaimed "Victoria and Her Hussar" as tops. The entire North American continent will hear the vociferous applause and cheering following the opening performance.

BUY SEATS NOW! Choice locations are STILL available. But don't wait until the last minute and be disappointed. MUNICIPAL OPERA box office in lobby, Arcade Bldg., 8th and Olive Sts., open daily 9 to 9. Sundays, 12 to 5.

MAN CATCHES FOX WITH BARE HANDS ON COUNTY ROAD

J. V. Sigmund, Who Swam, Alton to St. Louis, Hems Up Animal in Culvert.

John V. Sigmund, a meat cutter who swam from Alton to St. Louis Tuesday with his upper arms lashed to his body with a belt, proved his versatility when he caught a red fox with his bare hands yesterday on Bopp road near the Crystal Lake Country Club in St. Louis County.

Driving his automobile, Sigmund saw the animal—a young fox about the size of a cat—dart across the road and into a culvert. He placed an automobile seat over one end of the culvert, so that the fox could not escape, and crawled into the minutes after 11. After a few minutes, he emerged from the pipe, which was about three feet in diameter and 50 feet long, dragging the fox out by the tail, or as the hunters would say, by the brush.

Sigmund, who lives at 2921A Shendooch avenue, took the animal to the home of his mother, Mrs. Margaret Sigmund, in Creve Coeur, where he built a pen for it. He said he planned to keep it as a pet.

Life for the City Counselor

One Problem After Another

Wayman Is a Busy Man, Handling Many Cases Ticklish Politically and Taking Blame for Others.

City Counselor Edgar H. Wayman remained unperturbed today when called on for an opinion as to whether an ordinance to require public school fire drills would be legal. Only yesterday, Comptroller Louis Nolte had asked him to investigate the city's $587,000 claim against a closed bank. To Wayman, the requests represented just two more chores to be added to his already busy program as the city's chief legal adviser.

The phrase, "I'll have to ask Mr. Wayman to look into that," has become a familiar one around City Hall during these hot months when many of the city's residents are on their vacations and others are drifting along, doing as little as possible from day to day.

At the top of Wayman's work-sheet are more than half a dozen items of major importance, all of which are at least a bit ticklish politically and some downright "hot potatoes."

Besides the fire drills and bank deposit, other matters to which Wayman must give attention are upholding the city's position in the Laclede Gas Light Co. refund case, dickering with the Terminal Railroad about the use of the Municipal Bridge, compiling an opinion for the Police Board on whether the city has the legal right to break up the city hall during these hot months when many of the city's residents are on their vacations and others are drifting along, doing as little as possible from day to day.

PLANS BILL TO REQUIRE FIRE DRILL IN SCHOOLS

Alderman Warnick to Get Opinion as to Legality of Such an Ordinance.

Alderman William J. Warnick announced today he would ask City Counselor Edgar H. Wayman for an opinion as to whether an ordinance to require fire drills in the public schools would be legal. If it is held that such a municipal law would be effective, he said, he would introduce the bill when the Board of Aldermen reconvenes next month.

Warnick said to a Post-Dispatch reporter he was amazed to learn that surprise fire drills were not held in the public schools here, although required in many other cities and in many industrial plants. "I'm afraid that if a fire broke out in one of our schools, we would have a catastrophe," Warnick declared. "With children given no training for such a situation there probably would be a panic."

Schools "Not Any Too Safe."

Recent disclosures, he said, showed that the schools did not look "any too safe." If fire escapes could not be provided, there could at least be fire drills, he insisted.

The showing of fire hazards in many schools and the lack of fire escapes and surprise fire drills was made by the Post-Dispatch last month on the basis of findings of the Strayer school survey, and a report of the Building Commission of the Board of Education.

In connection with a plumbing controversy years ago, the Supreme Court of Missouri held that the Board of Education, whose authority is derived from a State charter enacted by the Legislature in 1897, was not bound by city ordinances, such as the building code. As a result, the City Building Commissioner has not sought since to enforce

ONE KILLED, 20 INJURED
AT LAUNCHING OF SHIP

Runaway British Aircraft Carrier Hurls Blocks of Wood Into Crowd.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Aug. 17 (AP).—One woman was killed and 20 persons were injured today when Britain's newest aircraft carrier, the 23,000-ton Formidable, burst her supporting cradle and made a runaway launching into Belfast Lough.

The $15,000,000 vessel slid into the water prematurely, hurling blocks of wood supporting her keel among thousands of persons who had gathered for her formal launching.

Lady Wood, wife of British Air Minister Sir Kingsley Wood, managed to break the traditional bottle of wine on the receding bows as the vessel started to slide away. Although startled by the loud cracking of timbers breaking away from the cradle supporting the 735-foot long vessel, she hastily broke the wine bottle and called the name of the Formidable.

Pieces of wood, iron nuts and bolts flew into the air. Some of them fell in the crowd of spectators.

Shipwrights below the vessel to free it at a given signal, raced to safety as the cradle crashed about them.

Tugs which had been grouped at the end of the ways to take the carrier in tow hurried to get out of the way of the runaway vessel, their sirens screaming.

The bandmaster of the Royal Ulster Constabulary, with great presence of mind struck up "Rule Britannia" just as if the launching had been according to schedule.

The formal christening service by assembled clergymen was carried out after the injured had been taken away.

In the group with Lady Wood were her husband and Lord Craigavon, Prime Minister of Northern Ireland.

The Formidable will house more than 60 warplanes and mount 16 4.5-inch guns.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN, 91, FREE
AFTER 7 YEARS IN CUSTODY

Iowan Trying to Decide Whether to Go to G. A. R. Encampment Next Week.

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 17 (AP).—Freed of the remainder of his eight-year sentence for manslaughter, Marvin T. Grattan, 91-year-old Civil War veteran, considered today whether to attend the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at Pittsburgh next week or go directly to his son's farm near Rapidan, Va.

Gov. George A. Wilson yesterday suspended the last three months of Grattan's sentence.

Earlier Grattan and his wife, 86, slipped away from the Iowa Soldiers' Home at Marshalltown, where he had been held in technical custody for several years, and went to the Governor's office.

They pleaded for a commutation that would enable them to attend the encampment in Pittsburgh.

Grattan was sentenced for shooting Claude Meade, a horse trader, in a quarrel at the Decatur (Ia.) fairgrounds, July 21, 1933. He pleaded guilty of manslaughter, contending he was protecting a relative from an attack by Meade.

'PURITY' JONES
IN TROUBLE AGAIN

deed, however, is subject to an $8821 first mortgage calling for payments of $141 a month, including taxes and insurance, Viopatch pointed out.

Jones, seen by a reporter at his place of business, insisted that all the paper held by Viopatch would be liquidated at full value, explaining that the present difficulty resulted when the Springfield laundry operator obligated himself for more than he was able to handle.

He declared the $6800 mortgage held by Viopatch "positively is a first mortgage," but when asked why payments were being made on the $1200 deed instead, declined to explain, saying he was saving the explanation as "evidence."

Regarding the $3000 mortgage, he said the washing machine had been delivered but was returned to St. Louis for repairs. He said Viopatch paid the repair bill to save his investment by putting the machine to work. The $1000 mortgage on the St. Louis laundry's equipment also is good, he said.

As for the $6000 second mortgage on the building he occupies, Jones was equally confident of the safety of Viopatch's investment.

"Why, there's no telling what this property may be worth when the memorial is built," he declared.

He bought it from an insurance company for $10,000, paying $1000 cash and putting up a $9000 first mortgage. Payments have reduced the unpaid balance to $8821. The building now is vacant except for the first floor, which is shared by Jones with a small musical instrument shop. Many old buildings in the vicinity have been torn down in recent years to save taxes and cost of upkeep.

Hitch-Hikes to Fair, Doesn't See It. PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17 (AP).—Calvin Richards, 19 years old, with only $8 in his jeans, thumbed his way 2000 miles to see the San Francisco Exposition. Then he decided not to go in, because "I thought it would pinch my pennies too hard." So he hitch-hiked the 2000 miles back home.

POLICEMEN'S MEALS

Ford Co. Paid for Officers' Dinners, Tom Gesso Says in Action Over Wife.

Testimony that the Ford Motor Co. paid for the meals of policemen on duty at its plants at 4100 Forest Park boulevard during the strike there in 1937 was heard yesterday in a hearing of the dispute between Tom Gesso and his partner, Charles Caro, over management of their Marvel Cafe, 4065 Forest Park.

Under cross-examination concerning details of the business, Gesso said the Ford company had given him instructions to feed policemen on strike duty who visited the restaurant. About 15 or 20 went there every day, sometimes for one and sometimes for two meals, Gesso asserted, and the company paid the bill.

This line of cross-examination followed Gesso's earlier statement that business at the restaurant began picking up after his wife began going there and staying with him in the evenings. The hearing was on a suit by Caro for an injunction to prevent Mrs. Gesso from interfering with the business by keeping her out of the restaurant.

After testimony by Gesso and Mrs. Gesso, Circuit Judge Robert L. Aronson took the case under advisement. Both denied the previous assertions of Caro that Mrs. Gesso had argued with waitresses and customers or in any other way been a disturbing influence at the cafe.

Unionist Repeats Charge Ford Co. Paid for Policemen's Meals.

Testimony that the Ford Motor Co. had paid for meals for policemen on strike duty was cited by Delmond Garst, regional director of the United Auto Workers, CIO, in a letter today to the Board of Police Commissioners, "so that, if you care to do so, you can reopen your investigation of the charges outlined in my previous letter."

He referred to a detailed complaint which he made in December, 1937. "The behavior of the police during the early days of the Ford strike," he continued, "was in sharp contrast to the fair, decent and impartial behavior of the police in other strikes in St. Louis, strikes conducted by both the CIO and A. F. of L. This petty bribery may be the explanation."

Albert Bond Lambert, president of the board, to whom the letter was addressed, was not at his office today, and Chief of Police John H. Glavin said he would have to consult Maj. Lambert on any action. He reiterated his declaration at the time of the original complaint that while he doubted that any of his men would be foolish enough to accept favors, if it were proved that they had taken "as much as a cigar" it was in violation of his specific order and would be dealt with severely.

"They tried to hook acid-throwing on us," Garst told reporters. "We charged that it was faked, and a confessed faker is in the penitentiary. We charged that the Ford company was buying policemen's meals, and here is sworn testimony to back it. We simply want to make it clear that when he charges something, we mean it."

P W A ORDERS REDUCTION IN FIELD AND OFFICE FORCE

Also Dismisses 45 Administrative Workers in Bituminous Coal Division.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP).—The Public Works Administration ordered a 50 per cent slash in its field and office forces and the bituminous coal division dropped 43 administrative employees, largely in the higher salary brackets.

John M. Carmody, Federal Works Administrator, announced that 5208 of 10,417 employees would be dismissed, beginning Sept. 1.

Secretary of the Interior Ickes dismissed the coal division contingent, effective immediately, with a statement that it was "a first step toward consolidation and economy under President Roosevelt's reorganization plan."

Carmody's order, associates said, followed failure of Congress to pass the pending reorganization bill, which originally included a public works item of $350,000,000. Officials estimated that PWA had only about $100,000,000 remaining of the $965,000,000 appropriated for the 1938 program.

MAN ORDERED DEPORTED; WIFE CANNOT DECIDE WHAT TO DO

American Does Not Know Whether to Go to Italy With Three Children.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17 (AP).—Mrs. Antonette Landolfi, 21 years old, has until next week to decide whether she and her three children will accompany her husband, Dominick, 29, when the Federal Government deports him to Italy.

Mrs. Landolfi, an expectant mother, returned from a visit to find the house locked. Her husband had the only key and the children, Ralph, 4; Marie, 3, and Paul, 2, were hungry.

She learned the Federal authorities were holding her husband on a charge of entering this country 12 years ago without a passport.

"He's a good husband and he works whenever he can find a job," she said. "He says he'd rather die than be away from us."

"I'd rather go with him to Italy, because Italian people stick together, but if I go our next baby will be born in Italy. I'm an American and was born in Portsmouth, N. H. I cannot make up my mind."

'MERCY KILLER' OF SISTER HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

District Attorney Says He Will Seek Sanity Test for Aged Woman.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Aug. 17 (AP).—Margaret L. Cowan, 77-year-old spinster, was charged with murder today in a hospital room. District Attorney John L. Cuthall announced he would request a sanity examination for Miss Cowan, who told police she killed her sister "to put her out of her misery."

"My work on earth is done," Miss Cowan, former nurse, said. "If they electrocute me tomorrow, that will be all right."

Police said she walked into the Allentown State Mental Hospital Tuesday to visit her sister, Mrs. Louella Saeger, 67, and shot her after feeding her pies and cookies containing a drug. Mrs. Saeger had been a mental patient nearly two years.

"I feel happier now than I have all my life," Miss Cowan said.

WIFE OF EVELYN THAW'S SON ANNOUNCES TRIAL SEPARATION
Says She Is Living With Parents in Los Angeles; Husband in the East.
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17 (AP).—The former Kay Roberts said today she had decided on a trial separation from her husband, Russell K. Thaw, son of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw. "I am living with my parents, and my husband is in the East," she asserted. The Radcliffe graduate and the young aviator were married here in 1936.

1938 HEALTHIEST YEAR IN ST. LOUIS, SAYS DR. BREDECK
New Lows in General Death Rate and Infant and Maternal Mortality Are Reported.
St. Louis in 1938 enjoyed "its healthiest year," Health Commissioner Joseph F. Bredeck today announced in an annual report in which he said his staff assayed remarkable progress along many lines, but formidable threats at a few crucial points.

On the good side of the ledger they noted new lows in the general death rate, infant and maternal deaths and deaths of communicable diseases, outstandingly of typhoid, epidemic meningitis and the scourges, pneumonia and diphtheria.

On the credit side, too, they marked up growing official, lay and professional concern with public health and the particular programs responsible for some of the particular achievements—milk control, which, the laboratory chief drily confessed, showed results that amazed him when he checked his first samples in several years; venereal disease control, just beginning on a new rational basis, but already making a dent in a long-neglected problem; parochial school health supervision; the pneumonia program which saved an estimated 60 lives last winter and is recommended to continue for five years, and the free immunization program which cut the diphtheria death rate last year to the lowest of record, 1.9 to the 100,000 population in comparison with 3.2 in 1937, 13.2 in 1926 and 36.1 in 1914.

On the red side of ledger, they recorded gravely, are inadequacy of provision for lay health education, a drastic lack of nurses, the 20 years' delay in enlarging Koch Hospital to take care of the neglected tuberculous, the mass problem of the slums—beyond the Health Division to tackle, but perhaps to be solved by the Housing authority—and the growing menace of malnutrition among the thousands on relief or without relief.

Discussing the statistical reports, Health Commissioner Bredeck pointed out that the eminence of St. Louis as a health center becomes a liability to the city in the comparison of health figures, since thousands come here for treatment and the record include about 2000 non-resident deaths a year.

Hence the death rate shown last year was 12.3, tying St. Louis with San Francisco as ninth healthiest of the 14 American cities of more than 500,000 population. But if non-resident deaths were excluded, St. Louis would move up to seventh place, led by Detroit, Milwaukee, Los Angeles, Chicago, New York and Cleveland.

Few Diphtheria Deaths.
Even more striking, of the 16 diphtheria deaths in St. Louis last year, all but four were of non-residents. The official rate was 1.9, tying St. Louis with Chicago in next to last place (New Orleans) in diphtheria control, but the resident rate was .5, which would have ranked it with Cleveland and Philadelphia, exceeded in effectiveness of stamping out this once-dread disease only by Baltimore, Buffalo and Milwaukee and New York with rates of .3, and Boston with .2.

Question of Malnutrition.
"In the last annual program I briefly mentioned the question of malnutrition and this is becoming a problem which annually has threatened to become worse, particularly among relief clients. One cannot neglect nutrition in any group of individuals in a community without its reflecting itself on the general welfare of the community. Food and shelter are certainly indispensable of life and must be adequately provided for, and permanently."

Specific grounds appeared throughout the supplementary reports in figures on the preponderance of death and preventable disease and acute of maternal, infant and tuberculosis deaths in the poorer and more crowded districts and particularly in outright slums.

An effort to meet the worst phases of the problem in two of the poorest, the Downtown and Mill Creek districts, in a three-year program with the State Health Department, was reported by the Municipal Visiting Nurses. In Mill Creek district they found 50 per cent of families on WPA, 25 per cent on relief and 25 per cent employed; Downtown, 52 per cent of white and 30 per cent of Negro families self-supporting; respectively, 23 and 50 per cent on WPA, 15 and 11 per cent on relief, and 10 per cent of white families "have no support."

"This is the twentieth anniversary of the tuberculosis survey I made for the city and the Tuberculosis Society," said Dr. Bredeck. "At that time we had approximately 200 beds at Koch Hospital. I recommended that it be enlarged 1000 beds. This opinion was concurred in by national authorities who came to St. Louis a few years later. Much effort was expended, plans were made, several bond issues passed, the staff reorganized—and today the institution is one to be proud of."

First of his list of recommendations—"Complete construction of the buildings at Koch Hospital, as authorized by the bond issue, as rapidly as possible."

Manassas Maneuvers End With Final Artillery Blast

Eleven O'clock Armistice Brings Action to Close as 17,000 Guardsmen Prepare to Attack 6000 Regulars.

THIRD CORPS HEADQUARTERS, MANASSAS, Va., Aug. 17 (AP).—The violent noise of army maneuvers ended today with a traditional 11 a. m. armistice which called off attack of 17,000 national guardsmen against 6000 regular troops entrenched on Signal Hill.

Just before the end, artillery units of the Guardsmen from Pennsylvania, Virginia and Maryland cut loose with all their ammunition, and the earth shook for miles around.

It was the final engagement of the 23,000 men who, although they have been in the thick of things for days, will have to consult maps and read the newspapers in order to form a definite picture of what it was all about.

Major-General James K. Parsons, Third Corps Area commander, explained today that the maneuvers have been primarily a staff training operation.

"It is invaluable for the officers, but is bound to be pretty chaotic for the men," he said as the opposing forces began the final en-agement of their four-day mock battle.

Trudging along back roads, bouncing in trucks or just standing around in a blazing sun awaiting orders, National Guard and Regular Army men have been able to see little of what was going on.

Neither have such privileged observers as the military attaches from a dozen foreign nations who are supplied with maps and guided by staff officers. Holding on to hard seats in a yellow school bus, Lieutenant-General Frederick von Boetticher of Germany; Major-General Masafumi Yamauti of Japan, and the rest often have had to spend an hour or more trying to locate the day's action.

At camp the staff officers have followed troop movements closely by means of radio messages and reports from planes. Late in the day communicators are distributed telling the men what they did.

Rain and Hall Sweeps Plattsburg Maneuver Area.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 17 (AP).—The weather became a major concern to 52,000 soldiers of the first army as they took the field today to "fight" the second of a series of minor engagements leading up to the big push that will conclude these war games next week.

To the doughboys, pelted with rain and hail which swept the 450-square mile battle area yesterday, it was primarily a question of personal comfort.

To the men of the mechanized artillery and cavalry units, however, the weather held the threat that a drenching rain might offer a stern test of their high-speed equipment which has yet to prove in these maneuvers what it can do under unfavorable conditions.

The rain yesterday, falling on ground baked by weeks of drought, proved insufficient to slow the movements of mechanized units. Artillery operated at maximum efficiency, while the "iron horses" of the crack Seventh Cavalry from Fort Knox, Ky., continuing a demonstration tour of the far-flung encampments, roared over the rutted, back country roads at undiminished speed.

The maneuvers which engaged the troops today were a repetition of the first day of fighting, in which regiment opposed regiment in 11 unrelated advance and flank guard actions.

The weather added to the list of casualties as four members of the Twenty-sixth Division, Massachusetts National Guard, were treated for shock suffered when lightning struck near their positions.

The State charged Hayes and two companions conspired to rob Sherman W. Cadwell in his mountain cabin. But Hayes, who is deaf, said he went to the cabin to destroy Cadwell's radio, which he asserted sent strange noises and "demons" into his head. Cadwell, who was 71, was fatally shot.

One companion of Hayes was sentenced to life imprisonment, the other to 15 years.

MAN AWAITING FIRING SQUAD FOR KILLING GETS REPRIEVE

Utah Pardons Board Will Consider Appeal for Commutation to Life Term.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Aug. 17 (AP).—George Hayes, 54 years old, under sentence to die before a firing squad yesterday from Gov. Blood so the State Pardons Board can consider his appeal for commutation to life imprisonment.

The State charged Hayes and two companions conspired to rob Sherman W. Cadwell in his mountain cabin. But Hayes, who is deaf, said he went to the cabin to destroy Cadwell's radio, which he asserted sent strange noises and "demons" into his head. Cadwell, who was 71, was fatally shot.

One companion of Hayes was sentenced to life imprisonment, the other to 15 years.

SENATOR MURRAY FOR EXTRA SESSION ON SPENDING-LENDING

Montanan Says 'We Should Avoid Curtailment of Government Aid.'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP).—Senator Murray (Dem.), Montana, said today he thought it would be advisable for President Roosevelt to call a special congressional session to consider spending and lending measures.

"We should avoid a curtailment of Government spending and lending in order to prevent great damage to our national economy," Murray told reporters.

VARIOUS OPENING DAYS AT FIRST-RUN HOUSES

Fox and Loew's Features Already on Exhibition, Other Changes Tomorrow.

ARRIVAL of Stanley and Livingstone and a group of Walt Disney cartoons at the Fox Theater yesterday started off the new motion picture of the week in St. Louis. Loew's began showing 'The Wizard of Oz' and 'Parents on Trial' today, the Ambassador has 'When Tomorrow Comes' and 'Unexpected Father' for tomorrow, the St. Louis 'Inside Information' and 'Island of Lost Men.' What the Missouri will take over for continued runs is not announced.

A review of Stanley and Livingstone appears on the society page of this edition.

'The Wizard of Oz,' from L. Frank Baum's famous book for children, is a Technicolor fairy tale which took a year in production and cost more than $2,000,000. In the leading roles are Judy Garland as Dorothy, Frank Morgan as the Wizard, Ray Bolger as the Scarecrow, Jack Haley as the Tin Woodman, Bert Lahr as the Cowardly Lion, Billie Burke as the Good Witch, Margaret Hamilton as the Wicked Witch. Some 9200 actors in all were used, 3210 costumes and 65 settings. Most of the action is set to music.

The screenplay follows the book closely, except in amplifying scenes at Dorothy's home in Kansas, before a cyclone picks her up and carries her to the Land of Oz, and in omitting a few details of her adventures after she arrives in Oz.

The second feature on Loew's program, 'Parents on Trial,' a story of young love and unsympathetic parents, features Jean Parker and Johnny Downs.

Ambassador—'When Tomorrow Comes' and 'Unexpected Father.'

RENE DUNNE and Charles Boyer, who were teamed in the romantic hit, 'Love Affair,' last spring, will be seen together again in 'When Tomorrow Comes' at the Ambassador. In the cast also are Barbara O'Neil, Nydia Westman, Onslow Stevens, Fritz Feld and Greta Meyer.

Miss Dunne is cast as a waitress thrown out of a job by a strike. She accepts the invitation of a friendly stranger, Boyer, to go on a yacht cruise for a day. The two are caught in a storm, seek refuge in a church and find they are in love. But since the man already is married, there are some complications to be faced.

Boyer's role is that of a concert pianist and when Miss Dunne sings Schubert's 'Serenade' in the film, is seen as her accompanist. The French star, immediately after completing 'When Tomorrow Comes,' left for his homeland to be starred in a film there, 'Le Corsaire.'

The second feature for the Ambassador, 'Unexpected Father,' is a comedy written especially to star Baby Sandy, who made her debut with Bing Crosby and Mischa Auer in 'East Side of Heaven.' Now 19 months old, Baby Sandy is in real life Sandra Hensville, a little girl in spite of the masculine roles she plays.

In 'Unexpected Father,' she is a charge of Dennis O'Keefe and his roommate, Auer. The plot centers around getting the baby a good home, with Shirley Ross and Joy Hodges as other characters involved in the proceedings.

St. Louis—'Island of Lost Men' and 'Inside Information.'

J. CARROL NAISH, delineator of foreign types on the screen, will be seen as a half-caste bandit, gun runner and kidnaper of the Malay Peninsula in 'Island of Lost Men,' at the St. Louis tomorrow. Anna May Wong has another leading role as the daughter of a Chinese General abducted by Naish.

Movie Time Table

AMBASSADOR—'Hotel for Women,' featuring Elsa Maxwell, James Ellison and Linda Darnell, at 10:40, 1:28, 4:16, 7:14 and 10:02; the Jones Family in 'Quick Millions,' at 12:27, 3:15, 6:13 and 9:01.

FOX—'Stanley and Livingstone,' starring Spencer Tracy with Walter Brennan and Sir Cedric Hardwicke, at 1:07, 3:55, 6:43 and 9:31; Disney cartoons at 12:35, 3:23, 6:11 and 8:59.

LOEW'S—'The Wizard of Oz,' with Judy Garland, Frank Morgan and Bert Lahr, at 10:17, 1:10, 4:03, 6:56 and 9:49; 'Parents on Trial,' with Jean Parker and Johnny Downs, at 9:14, 12:07, 2, 5:53 and 8:46.

MISSOURI—'Bachelor Mother,' starring Ginger Rogers and David Niven, at 12:50, 3:50, 6:50 and 9:50; 'Frontier Marshal,' featuring Randolph Scott and Binnie Barnes, at 2:30, 5:30 and 8:30.

ST. LOUIS—'They Asked for It,' featuring William Lundigan and Joy Hodges, at 3:02, 6:04 and 9:06; 'She Married a Cop,' featuring Joan Parker and Phil Regan, at 1:56, 4:58 and 8; 'Island of Lost Men' (preview), at 10:06 p. m. and his men. Anthony Quinn and Eric Blore are in the cast.

'Inside Information,' second St. Louis feature, is about the efforts of a rookie policeman, Dick Foran, to solve a series of jewel robberies scientifically. His Captain, Harry Carey, refuses to have confidence in him. June Lang is seen as Carey's niece.

Julio Bonetti Bought by Cubs

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17 (AP).—The Los Angeles baseball club announced today that it had sold two of its stars, Catcher Bob Collins and Pitcher Julio Bonetti, to the Chicago Cubs.

David P. Fleming, president of the Angels, said cash and players were involved.

Collins, formerly with the Yankees, has been with Los Angeles three years, batting around .300.

Bonetti, formerly with the St. Louis Browns, is the Pacific Coast League's leading pitcher. He has won 15 games and lost three.

CURRAY'S COLUMN

What Happened?

THIS morning our Cardinals appeared to be slowly overhauling the flying Reds, with an outside chance of overtaking them and winning the pennant. Only six games behind, there remained 49 more games to be played by the Redbirds—ample time to put on the sustained drive needed to land the flag.

This situation is puzzling the inquiring fan, who looked on indifferently as the season opened, with little or no hope that Ray Blades' outfit would go places. That thought, however, was based on the weak showing of the club last year, when it finished deep in second division.

But, despite lack of early faith on the part of fans and of encouragement to be gleaned from last year's records, the Cards are raising a dust and causing Jockey Bill McKee to go to bat on his Cincinnati mount.

What happened to bring about the change?

THE PERSONNEL of the club has not been greatly altered. The uplift can't be explained by the mere addition of Sunkel, Cooper and Bowman to the pitching staff, although they have helped.

MISS MARBLE, MRS. FABYAN IN SEMIFINALS

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 17 (AP).—Alice Marble of Beverly Hills, Cal., and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Brookline, women's national doubles tennis champions for the last two years, gained the semifinal round of the national women's doubles tournament at the Longwood Cricket Club today by overwhelming two British Wightman Cup players, Betty Nuthall and Nina Brown, 6-1, 6-2.

Harry Hopman and Jack Crawford of the Australian Davis Cup forces, overcame the rugged brilliance of Charles Hare of England and Ladislav Hecht, former Czechoslovakian internationalist, to gain the semifinal round of the men's doubles. The score was 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.

Yesterday the two top domestic teams, Frank Parker of Beverly Hills, Cal., and Don McNeill of Oklahoma City, and Bobby Riggs and Ellwood Cooke, the Wimbledon champs, qualified for the semifinals in impressive fashion.

Riggs and Cooke eliminated such capable rivals as Robert Peacock and Douglas Imhoff, the intercollegiate titlists, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4, while the Parker-McNeill team overcame Russell Bobbitt of Atlanta, and Frank Guernsey of Coral Gables, Fla., 6-4, 10-8, 6-2.

St. Louis Gets a Look at Golf's Newest Star

Johnny Bulla, the sensational Chicago golf professional who finished second in the British Open and set the pace in the U. S. Open recently, is shown getting off a drive as he played an exhibition round at Sunset yesterday. He plays at Westborough in a special tournament this afternoon.

Job Minding Shop Owner's Baby And Work at a Driving Tee Mark Story of Golfer Bulla's Career

By Robert Morrison

Johnny Bulla, Chicago professional, didn't win the British Open—he missed it by three strokes—but he had the satisfaction of doing something none other has ever accomplished in the 54-year history of the championship.

He told about it during lunch at Sunset Golf Club.

"Here's something," he said, as he went to work on plate of vegetables, "I made two world records, at that tournament. I never had over a five on the six rounds, two qualifying, and I never was in a trap during the championship play.

"That's never been done before and it probably will be a long time before it's done again. They have 10 or 15 traps on every hole."

Beaten by Dick Burton.

Johnny must have been a disappointed man at St. Andrews when two hours after he had turned in a score of 292, Dick Burton holed out for 290 and the title.

The last American to win the British Open was Denny Shute in 1933. At that time Bulla is the youngest ever to have come so close, he said.

He was 25 this June. His is a fairly new name to professional tournament circles but he has been a pro for more than 10 years. Another distinction—probably the youngest club professional on record.

The story of his career is marked with fortunate coincidence. If Mike Thomas, Burlington Country Club pro in North Carolina, had not had a year-old baby about 11 years ago; if Bulla had not dropped into a driving tee in Chicago to find his way to the National Open at North Shore in 1933, he might never have met C. R. Walgreen, for whom he works.

He might still be playing Sunday golf down in North Carolina.

Job Minding the Baby.

But Mike Thomas did have a baby and he needed a boy to watch it as it lay in its crib daytimes near the pro shop. And Bulla was the boy. Bulla never did much caddyding, for it wasn't long before he was an assistant pro in Thomas' shop.

Then Thomas had to leave and the members wanted Bulla to be the professional until they found it was to take the job. They didn't find anyone and so Bulla stayed on, the youngest pro in the country to his knowledge. He was 15 then.

He went to Chicago to see the National Open in 1933 and the day it was to begin he couldn't find his way to North Shore. He stopped off at Rogers Park driving tee to ask his way, and decided to

PITCHER HOLDS DUGS TO SIX HITS, BATS IN RUN OFF MACE BROWN

By J. Roy Stockton
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 17.—The Cardinals continued their determined pennant drive this afternoon as Curt Davis registered his seventeenth victory of the season, 4 to 2, to make it three straight for the Redbirds over the Pirates, who suffered their ninth straight defeat.

Davis held the Buccaneers to six hits and hurled shutout ball except in the first inning, when two singles, with an infield out in between, produced a run and the ninth, when Elbie Fletcher hit into the right field seats for a homer.

In scoring their sixteenth victory in the last 18 games, the Cardinals took an early lead, scoring twice in the first inning and once in the second. Jimmy Brown's single, a pass to Mize and Padgett's single to right, which Paul Waner fumbled, produced two runs in the first frame and in the second Guttridge doubled and scored on Davis' single. Jimmy Brown singled in the eighth, took second on Slaughter's sacrifice and scored on Mize's single to center.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET
CURL MARKET

Latest German-Polish War
Rumblings Make Traders
Pause—Many Feel New Cry of 'Wolf' Might Be Similar to Previous Ones.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP).—Stocks generally crawled over a slightly lower trail in today's market.

The one encouraging feature of the proceedings, from the point of analysts, was that selling dried up to a mere trickle. Transfers for the five hours were 442,900 shares.

While there were a few losses of around a point, the majority of reactions were in small fractions. In addition, a handful of favorites managed to close a shade ahead.

As in yesterday's retreat, brokers attributed the slipshod proceedings to wary traders who refused to step into the buying rumpus because of the latest German-Polish war rumblings which revived fears the Danzig row was about to break "wide open" and again endanger the peace of Europe.

On the other hand, many in Wall Street felt the newest cry of "wolf" might be similar to others and that notwithstanding mobilization of Nazi forces on the Polish border, the whole thing could turn out to be one of those poker-playing gestures which have occasionally rattled market nerves during the last year or so.

Imported investment holdings, financial quarters reported, were still intact and market moves, lately, have been due mainly to in-and-out "professionals" attempting to catch minor price swings.

Business hopes continued as a prime bubble of influence.

In the Lower Group, particularly responsive, a contra-seasonal jump in last week's freight loadings served to prompt sentiment.

Off a shade the greater part of the session—some back at the last—were U. S. Steel, Youngtown Steel, Montgomery Ward, I. C. Case, American Telephone, Anaconda, Westinghouse, Phillips Morris, Phillips Petroleum, Celanese, Loft, Allis Chalmers and Great Northern.

Resistant were Dow Chemical, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, International Harvester, Kennecott, U. S. Gypsum, and du Pont.

Bonds, on the whole, were lower. Commodities were mixed.

Supported in the curb were Electric Bond and Share, Sherwin Williams and American Gas. "B." Inclined to give ground were American Gas, Todd Shipyard and Lockheed.

General News of the Day.

The Commerce Department announced that it had tested the drift of its main divisions would begin the 1940 production Monday week at peak capacity. The program was said to call for a substantial expansion over the 1939 output.

More state shut-downs of oil wells in an attempt to correct the price position of this industry without much effect on petroleum shares.

Helpful was a survey indicating manufacturing inventories at mid-year were 14 per cent under 1938 with stocks of 144 commodities equivalent to three months' shipments compared with 4 1/2 months in the preceding year.

Building construction awards for the week ended Tuesday, as summarized by "Engineering News-Record," aggregated $60,831,000, against $74,434,000 in the preceding week and $44,479,000 in the same week a year ago. The total for 1939 to date was placed at 16 per cent above the 1938 period.

Dun & Bradstreet reported the weekly order clearings for the week ended Tuesday advanced sharply over the previous week and for the fourth consecutive week outdistanced the comparable days last year.

The Commerce Department announced retail trade in the first half amounted to $17,900,000, or about $1,000,000 larger than in the 1938 months notwithstanding prices were some 3 per cent lower.

The department also estimated United States lumber consumption this year would be around 10 to 15 per cent ahead of 1938 and only 5 per cent under 1937.

Camden (N. J.) Detectives Conduct Search Near City; Federal Agents Joint in Hunt.

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 17 (AP)—Police said today Federal authorities are co-operating in a search for a former waiter wanted for questioning about the "Lovers Lane" killing of Wanda Dworecki, 18-year-old daughter of the Rev. Walter Dworecki.

Describing the man as a key witness, police said "we can't do much until we find him." He once was a boarder in the home of the girl's father. He was reported seen last week at Newark, and circulars describing him have been sent to every police station in the country.

Two detectives who left Camden by airplane searched near St. Louis, Mo., on a tip the man went there. Miss Dworecki's body was found Aug. 8. She had been strangled.

WATERBURY JUDGE TO SENTENCE 23 IN GRAFT CONSPIRACY

Calls Mayor and Others to Court Tomorrow and May Impose Penalties at That Time.

WATERBURY, Conn., Aug. 17 (AP)—Twenty men, including Mayor Frank Hayes, who were convicted yesterday of looting the city treasury, have been ordered to appear in Superior Court tomorrow, together with two men who pleaded guilty when the trial began Nov. 29 and another who threw himself on the mercy of the court with a nolo contendere plea.

Whether sentences will be pronounced at that time depends on the time required to argue motions to set aside the verdicts.

A jury of nine men and three women convicted the 66-year-old bachelor Mayor and 18 others of conspiring to cheat and defraud the city of more than a million dollars through fraudulent payments to city officials, once powerful politicians, lawyers, accountants and contractors.

Judge Inglis, who presided over Connecticut's longest criminal trial, returned a like verdict in the case of a twentieth defendant who had elected to place his fate in the hands of the court.

No comment was forthcoming from any of the defense lawyers after the verdict, but Special Prosecutor Hugh M. Alcorn gave newspaper men this one-sentence statement:

"In my opinion, no Connecticut jury ever rendered a greater public service."

Jury Out Six Hours
The jury, which had before it more than 2,000 words of testimony, deliberated more than six hours before announcing the verdicts which made the accused liable to maximum prison terms of five to 15 years, depending on which of two statutes the Judge chose to invoke.

Prior to 1937, Connecticut's conspiracy law called for a maximum penalty of five years in prison and $500 fine. In that year the Legislature increased the maximum prison term to 15 years.

Since the State charges the Waterbury conspiracy began in 1930 and continued until 1938, there was a question as to which statute would guide the Judge in pronouncing sentence.

In doubt, too, was whether Hayes, until last January Connecticut's Lieutenant-Governor, would complete his fifth term as Mayor, a post he has held since 1930.

The city charter provides that the Board of Aldermen may remove an elective officer by a two-thirds vote "for due cause," and names the board's president as successor in the event the mayorality becomes vacant.

That body is made up of seven men of the same political faith as the Mayor, a Democrat, and eight Republicans.

FRENCH CUSTOMS OFFICER BEATEN BY GERMAN SOLDIERS

Paris Demands Explanation but Has Theory Men Who Crossed Border Were Nazi Deserter.

PARIS, Aug. 17 (AP)—A French customs officer reported today he had been beaten by two German soldiers in uniform and the French Government forwarded a protest to Germany. The Foreign Ministry ordered a full investigation and asked Germany for an explanation.

A preliminary inquiry at the frontier led to the belief among French officials that the two men were deserters from the German army. The customs guard said that the men beat him with the flat sides of German army sabres.

He had stopped them at the lonely border post of Leyding where they had crossed from Germany in a car driven by a civilian.

Leaving him unconscious, they jumped back into their car and recrossed the frontier into Germany. German border police were co-operating with the French in an effort to identify the men.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 17 (AP)—Engineer W. M. Medae, 56 years old, whose record of 28 years' service without an accident was broken Saturday when his locomotive struck another passenger train, killing two men, is no longer an employee of the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad.

Officers of the line said yesterday they had dismissed Medae after finding no substantiation for his contention that faulty air brakes caused his "Scenic Limited" to crash into a Santa Fe train at a South Denver crossover.

BRITISH JUDGE DENIES WRIT FOR RELEASE OF FOUR CHINESE

American to Make an Effort to Free Men Accused by Japanese at Tientsin.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 17 (AP)—British Judge P. Grant Jones denied today a writ of habeas corpus sought by two Britons for the four Chinese suspects at Tientsin whom Britain has agreed to surrender to Japanese authorities.

The four are accused by the Japanese of complicity in the killing of a Chinese customs official in Japanese-dominated territory in North China. The decision, in the British Supreme Court for China, held that the petitioners, being neither friends nor relatives of the prisoners, were unauthorized to seek the writ.

It was sought by Miss Margery Fry, prominent in education circles in England, and Norman Bentwich, vice-president of the Council of Civil Liberties in London.

Barry E. Eastham of Portland, Ore., later announced in Tientsin he would take up the effort for release of the four men. He said representatives of the two petitioners had sought his intervention as a person friendly to the suspects.

GASOLINE SUPPLY FOR 10 TO 12 DAYS

Standard of New Jersey
Head Says Proration Can Be Effective Only if All States Act.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Aug. 17 (AP).—Shutdown of oil wells in a states took 70 per cent of the nation's crude supply from the market today.

The shutdown in Oklahoma, Kansas, Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana and New Mexico, which followed a series of price cuts by purchasing companies, affects 170,833 wells producing 2,356,600 barrels a day. The Louisiana order is effective at 6 p. m.

State regulatory bodies had no reports of wells producing in violation of orders. Each state has statutes which permit the closing of wells to conserve natural resources. The "hot oil" law prohibits interstate shipment of oil produced in violation of state orders. Surveys and company announcements indicated less than 10 per cent of the 200,000-odd workers in the Midcontinent field would be temporarily discharged as a result of the closing of wells. The others will have vacations, half-pay, or will repair machinery.

Higher Prices Reported.
Some producers were reported ready to start a campaign for a higher price for crude, basing their contention on a belief refinery prices would increase within a week and there would be a scarcity of crude and refined products. Tulsa bankers said spot gasoline prices advanced a quarter to a half cent a gallon in many places yesterday. A survey showed Oklahoma refineries had 10 to 12 days' supply of gasoline, Kansas and North Texas less than 10.

In several states the shutdowns are ordered for 15 days, but an indication that attempts would be made to prolong the shutdown came from Gov. Phillips of Oklahoma. He said that if the current action failed to affect prices, he would not hesitate to call a meeting of the governors of the oil states or of the state regulatory bodies.

Extent of Curtailment.
The Tulsa (Ok.) Tribune estimated 24,500,000 barrels of crude oil, which otherwise would have been produced would be kept in the ground by the shutdowns in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and New Mexico.

"Such reduction (of crude production) should reduce crude oil stock in the next 15 days by 10 per cent, bringing total crude oil stock below 20,000,000 barrels, the lowest figure in more than 17 years," the paper said.

Refineries generally reported that while they may be able to manufacture gasoline, the motor fuel will not be up to the present standard, due to the general shutdown of natural gas plants.

Gov. Nels H. Smith of Wyoming filed a complaint with the State Attorney-General accusing the Sinclair, Continental and Texas companies of restraining free competition by forming a combine and charging discriminatory prices for gasoline.

At M. Landon, an independent oil operator and 1938 Republican presidential nominee, charged at Evergreen, Colo., that the oil crisis was due to "ruthless and arrogant big business refusing to co-operate with conservation authorities."

The former Kansas Governor declared "the public will notice that the crude oil price has been reduced more than one-fifth this year and that there has been no reduction in the price of gasoline."

Standard Oil Reply.
The North Texas Oil and Gas Association made public a reply from W. S. Farish, president of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, to a request for Standard's co-operation in re-establishing crude prices. Farish, declaring "we can have effective proration and waste prevention only if all states pass adequate conservation laws," added: "I still believe in our economic system. Scarcity makes for higher prices but I have never been willing to restrict production of oil through conservation laws for the purpose of raising prices, nor for any purpose except prevention of physical waste."

It is true stocks of crude oil are low in comparison with previous years. Stock of products, however, particularly gasoline, have been excessive and burdensome for many months. Production this year

Treasury Calls for Tax Revision Aid of Business, Labor, Farmers

Leaders Invited to Present Their Views at Private Hearings in Advance of Study by House Committee.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP).—John W. Hanes, acting Secretary of the Treasury, asked business, farm and labor leaders today to co-operate in an "effort to work out a tax revision program which will further improve the laws relating to individual and corporate taxes."

At his press conference, Hanes made public the text of a letter to officers in industry, labor, commerce, banking and agriculture.

He asked those to whom he wrote whether they were interested in getting their tax views before Congress and advised them to send preliminary hearings before Treasury officials.

He said he desired to assemble the information in order to have a record of "public tax opinion" for the subcommittee of the House Ways and Means Committee when it meets on Nov. 1.

This subcommittee is to make a study of the entire tax structure. The text of Hanes' letter:

"The subcommittee of the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives has been instructed to make a thorough study of internal revenue taxation during the recess of the Seventy-sixth Congress."

"The chairman of this subcommittee, Mr. Jere Cooper, is desirous of having all pertinent material ready for presentation early in the next session of the Congress."

"With the approval of his committee, I am writing to ask your co-operation in this effort to work out a tax revision program which will further improve the laws relating to individual and corporate taxes, the regulations derived therefrom and the administrative procedure in their collection."

"Our Common Problem."
"If you—or any organization with which you are connected—should be interested in having your views placed before the committee in full, I shall be glad to arrange—at a time convenient to you before Nov. 1, a private hearing before the Treasury staff assigned to compile a record of present public tax opinion. Your views will receive every consideration and I shall appreciate your help."

"This is our common problem, and a successful effort toward its solution will depend largely on our mutual and sympathetic understanding of the questions that confront both the Government and the taxpayer."

"I shall await your answer with interest."

Van Nuys said he thought the President's recent assertion that he would have no part in a campaign for a "conservative" or "lip service" Democrat meant:

"If he doesn't get the nomination himself or if one of his choice is not nominated, he will bolt the Democratic ticket."

If Vice-President Garner should get the presidential nomination, Van Nuys said, "then I think Mr. Roosevelt would bolt."

Mr. Roosevelt, Van Nuys continued, "is not nominated, he will bolt the Democratic ticket."

While declaring he would support any Democratic nominee other than Mr. Roosevelt, Van Nuys continued: "It would be pretty hard for me to throw my hat in the air for any one of a half-dozen men who have only been heard of in the Democratic party since 1933."

Van Nuys is supporting Paul V. McNutt, Federal Security Administrator, for President. He said that McNutt "has made considerable progress" with his campaign since he returned from the Philippines this summer.

New York Labor Federation Steps Third Term Question.
NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP).—The New York State Federation of Labor left today any question of endorsing President Roosevelt for a third term up to its parent, the American Federation of Labor.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP).—A prediction that at least 15 Democratic Senators would refuse to support President Roosevelt if he were nominated for a third term was made today by Senator Van Nuys (Dem., Indiana).

Van Nuys, who some times has opposed New Deal legislation, told reporters:

"It is not unlikely that the President may cudgel another nomination from the Democratic convention, but if he does I do not believe he will be re-elected."

The Indiana Senator said that he would work against renomination of Mr. Roosevelt within the party and that if the chief executive again were the nominee, he would remain inactive in the campaign. He did not name the 15 other Democratic Senators whom he predicted would follow a similar course.

Van Nuys repeated a previous statement that he "would not support Mr. Roosevelt or anybody else for a third term, because I believe if the sacred tradition against three terms is broken it will be the end of the republic."

Although saying it might be possible for Mr. Roosevelt to be renominated, he added that the Hatch law curtailing political activity of Government employees "will put a little quietus" on any third-term effort.

Van Nuys said he thought the President's recent assertion that he would have no part in a campaign for a "conservative" or "lip service" Democrat meant:

"If he doesn't get the nomination himself or if one of his choice is not nominated, he will bolt the Democratic ticket."

If Vice-President Garner should get the presidential nomination, Van Nuys said, "then I think Mr. Roosevelt would bolt."

Mr. Roosevelt, Van Nuys continued, "is not nominated, he will bolt the Democratic ticket."

While declaring he would support any Democratic nominee other than Mr. Roosevelt, Van Nuys continued: "It would be pretty hard for me to throw my hat in the air for any one of a half-dozen men who have only been heard of in the Democratic party since 1933."

New Orleans Mayor Keeps Anniversary Despite Courts Subpoena Calling Him Away on Day of Celebration Sent by Air Mail Is Delayed.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 17 (AP).—It was "open house" today at the City Hall in honor of Robert S. Maestri's third anniversary as Mayor, but Maestri almost missed the celebration. The Federal Government, investigating State affairs, wanted him to go to Dallas, Tex., for a hearing. The Mayor pleaded the celebration. Assistant United States Attorney-General O. Rogge took a long affidavit from him yesterday and withdrew a subpoena.

Then attorneys for Freeman W. Burford, wealthy independent Texas oil operator, decided they wanted Maestri to appear at the Dallas hearing. The Government seeks to bring Burford here on an indictment charging violation of the Connally "hot oil" act.

Burford's attorneys obtained a Dallas court order for the immediate appearance of Maestri. It was sent by air mail. But airport officials here said bad weather had interfered with airplane schedules, and it appeared the subpoena would not get to the Mayor until this afternoon.

U. S. TO TAKE TITLE TO MORE LOAN COTTON Government Will Have More Than 5,700,000 Bales for British Deal.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP).—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace announced today the Government would take title to more than half of the 11,420,000 bales of cotton held under loans to growers in order to carry out the cotton-rubber exchange agreement with Great Britain.

At the same time, the Secretary said the commodity Credit Corporation would extend Government loans on the 1938 cotton crop for one year, until July 31, 1940. All of the Government loans on cotton are on an annual basis and mature July 31.

Wallace said the Government Loan Corporation already had taken title to 1,670,000 bales of 1934 crop cotton. On Sept. 1 of this year he said the Government would take title to 5,270,000 bales of 1937 crop cotton.

Although the exchange of surplus American cotton for British rubber tentatively calls for only 500,000 and 600,000 bales, the Secretary said that it was necessary to take title to the 1937 crop also in order to provide the quality needed.

In addition to the British deal, the Government recently had announced tentative sale of 250,000 bales of Government loan cotton to Spain and possible sale of another 135,000 bales to France and Switzerland.

Cotton going to Britain, France and Switzerland must be held as a reserve for five years, or until an emergency prevents usual purchases of American cotton.

Baldwin After New York Speech

EARL BALDWIN OF BEWLEY
Former British Prime Minister after his address last night before the Congress on Education for Democracy.

BALDWIN SAYS THAT WORLD IS NOT SAFE FOR DEMOCRACY

Tells Meeting in New York It Is Not Sufficient to Let Things Slide.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP).—Former Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin told a meeting of the Congress on Education for Democracy last night: "Nor can we educate our peoples by holding up our hands in horror at the actions of totalitarian states. How a country is governed is its own concern. It is when the totalitarian country imposes, or tries to impose, its system on a people outside its borders that its concern becomes the concern of all free men."

As to the "perils facing democracy," he said they were real. "They are knocking at our door."

"Ideas are on the wing. Science has brought the nations of the world jostling together, and ideas laugh at boundaries. There are ideas so loaded with dynamite that they may blow systems that appear founded on a rock into fragments. I need not tell you that such ideas are those of Bolshevism and those propagated by the Nazis and Fascists. They cannot exist within the same boundaries as what you and I understand as democracy."

"Federation to Draft Roosevelt." SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 17 (AP).—Articles of incorporation for the "Federation to Draft Roosevelt in 1940" were filed yesterday with the Secretary of State. Directors, who include several Democratic State office holders, issued a statement declaring the "general welfare of the people of this nation demands the retention in office" of President Roosevelt.

MEXICO OFFERS THREE PROPOSALS ON OIL

Ambassador Proposes Collaboration in Operation and Payment in Product.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP).—The Mexican Government has offered three plans for settlement of claims growing out of the expropriation of American oil properties.

Francisco Castillo Najera, Mexican Ambassador, said last night the proposals were:

Collaboration between the Mexican Government and the companies in the exploitation of the properties, payment in oil taken from the seized wells, or "fair cash compensation after an appraisal in which the companies' representatives would participate."

Najera said the joint operation would be under a long-term contract which would specify the proportion of earnings for each party. The companies have expressed a willingness for such a settlement, but have insisted that control rest in their hands.

Najera, in a formal statement, said his country was willing to make "just and effective payment of compensation" for the properties.

The companies have contended the seized properties are worth between $150,000,000 and $200,000,000. Mexican officials have insisted, however, that the value is considerably less.

I know that my retirement will make no difference to its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A Londoner Envis the Middle West.

THE editor of the "newletter" section in one of the oldest illustrated weeklies, the London Sphere, says:

"Interviewed on her arrival in France, Mrs. Roosevelt, the President's 84-year-old mother, told reporters the object of her visit to Europe. She had come to rest in the good Old World after the somewhat harassing pace of life in America."

"Now, time was when I should have passed that statement with a self-satisfied acceptance of a profound truth. But not so today. 'Good' is an adjective I had not often heard of late applied to the Old World. It is far from good. It is an armed camp of mailed hosts, cursing and screaming insults to opposing hosts."

"The peaceful, little toy fields of old England are dotted with bigger mushroom, and the harvest moon is dimmed by searchlight and searchlight. The stamp there like diamond Maltese crosses in the sky. Our 'quiet lanes' are blocked by mechanical units and our rustics and dairymaids are decontamination squads and hospital nurses. And our 'dear old dignified journals' doubt the pressmen with blood and hum with rumors of war. 'Accepting that much of the legends of gummen and lawlessness, of stress of life and nerve-racking speed and noise in the United States, is the crude color process of journalism, I yet dare to suggest that Mrs. Roosevelt has come to the wrong place or come at the wrong time, to find old-world peace. Give me the security and deep peace of old-world Chicago and the serenity of Middle West isolationism."

The subversive elements throughout our land should take notice of this, or better still, take the first boat leaving for the "good Old World" and get a taste of it.

DAVID CLAIR.

What About Christmas?

THE editor of the Post-Dispatch: I CANNOT understand the storm aroused by the President's suggestion that Thanksgiving be advanced a week to increase the time between the holidays. Thanksgiving and Christmas do come too close together.

The President should go further. It has long been a complaint that Christmas and New Year's are not far enough apart. Why not move Christmas to Jan. 30? This would have the additional advantage of giving the birthday ball a dual purpose.

JANUARIUS.

Justify Police Care of Auto Victim.

TO the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: IN a letter last Monday, "Ex-St. Louisian" criticized the Police Department on several counts, especially for not rushing an injured man to the hospital without waiting for a city ambulance.

The police have been instructed in the proper method of treating injured persons, and know how dangerous it is to ride an injured person in a sitting position. Perhaps if he, and other busybodies, had not interfered with the police, they could have done more for the victim.

A few months ago the St. Louis force was ranked at the top of the list in efficiency. The young men of the department are perfect specimens of manhood, both physically and mentally. Evidently, "Ex-St. Louisian" writes before he thinks.

JOHN LAWRENCE.

Is This the Record?

TO the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: SOME newspapers have been carrying sensational articles about the excellent work done by the Congress which just adjourned. It made new WPA rules to take the bread out of the poor man's mouth, killed an increase in housing funds to see that he had no roof over his head and voted down the lending-aid program to ensure that private industry would not be able to employ him. Congress has good reason for being proud of its record.

P. M. T. F.

Light the City's Streets.

TO the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: HOW can St. Louis be anything but a hick town, when strangers have to stay in their hotels in the evening because they are afraid to wander out in the dark of downtown St. Louis?

With all the loafers on the city payroll, must St. Louis business suffer because the city administration thinks they are saving money by keeping the city in darkness. This invites crime, discourages visitors and merchants from out of town and affords excuses to real estate promoters of suburban areas who invite St. Louisans to move to the county, where the night is as light as day.

Isn't it too bad for St. Louis, with its dirt, its noise and smoke, and now its inexcusable darkness?

JAMES THOMPSON.

IMPOUNDED FUNDS.

The item of impounded funds is one of the obstructive questions in the negotiations between the City of St. Louis and the Laclede Gas Light Co.

Let it be said right here that the people of Missouri have had all the experience they can stomach with impounded funds.

They are fed up. By impounded funds we mean, of course, the moneys accumulated by corporations from illegal rates.

The stock fire insurance companies took millions of dollars from their Missouri policyholders by extortionate premiums collected in bold defiance of the State's regulatory powers.

The Laclede Gas Light Co., then under the baleful shadow of Harley Clarke's swindling mismanagement, took more than a million dollars from its St. Louis customers by similar lawlessness.

The insurance companies flouted the State Department of Insurance.

Laclede flouted the Public Service Commission.

In both instances the offenders were guilty of violating the law. Creatures of the State, they set themselves up as superior to their creator, the State.

There is a new order of things in Laclede, both as to local management and holding-company administration. And, in the matter of the impounded fund, the sins of the father are being visited on the next generation.

The Post-Dispatch concedes that the Laclede company has a debatable claim at least for a part of the impounded funds. But the source of those funds, he repeated, was the lawlessness of Laclede, and if the Public Service Commission had a proper sense of its dignity and responsibility it would have said as much in indignantly forthright language.

The Public Service Commission's latest report in the wearisome row with Laclede is an amazing document. It fairly reeks with humility. It seems as if the commission were apologizing for presuming to speak. As regards the impounded funds, it disavows jurisdiction, elaborately and, in the opinion of the Post-Dispatch, with unbecoming self-deprecation. And how the sardonic gods must have doubled up to learn from the Public Service Commission that the guardianship of this fund was vested in the Circuit Court of Cole County!

The Plum Tree, in memorabilia, blooms again. It was the Circuit Court of Cole County that assumed jurisdiction of something like $2,000,000 of the insurance funds. The people of Missouri can never forget Judge Nike Sevier and the group he appointed to act as custodians of the money. Lewis H. Cook, H. P. Lauf, Guy M. Sone were the chosen trio, and to each of them was detailed a lawyer to act as guide, philosopher and friend. And all of them, custodians and lawyers alike, were awarded fantastic compensation by the lavish Judge Sevier. What did those beneficiaries of the generous Judge do for their Hollywood hire? Nobody knows. Nobody ever could find out. True, a legislative committee conducted a purported investigation. But the committee, after listening to the ranting O'Malley paw the air, whitewashed the whole unsavory mess. Subsequent events have stripped the committee's veneer from O'Malley, whose infamous compromise is now his epitaph.

The task of Laclede's present management is first of all to retrieve the company's moral solvency. It could aggressively register that purpose, first, by manifesting its prior interest in the small consumer, who, collectively, is indispensable to its financial success; second, it could brilliantly dramatize its high resolve by rebating to the customers every last penny of the impounded funds, both as an act of equity and as righteous repudiation of Harley Clarke and all his nefarious works.

One further utterance may be cited on this subject of corporate rapacity. May we commend to Laclede's executives, the raking opinion of Chief Justice Hughes, ordering the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. to restore to its subscribers the $15,000,000 it had gouged out of them? The Chief Justice pronounced the last word in the dictionary on the iniquitous practice of public utilities in piling up pyramids of impounded funds from excessive, illegal rates.

SO THEY MOVED THE AMBULANCE FIVE MILES AWAY.

Either the ambulance for the West End or the official car of Director of Public Safety Chadsey had to be moved from the fire engine house at Enright and Bayard avenues, as a result of Fire Department consolidations. The official car remained. The ambulance was shifted to City Hospital, five miles from the district it served.

Fire Chief Cornoyer says it is "an old Spanish custom" to keep the Director of Public Safety's automobile near his home. That is no defense for depriving a large populous district of ambulance service. Chadsey's office has many other duties besides chasing fire engines. Fire captains and the Fire Chief must be better qualified by training and experience than is a Director of Public Safety for taking care of fires and the situations arising from them.

It seems reasonable to assume that there will be more need for hurried ambulance trips in the West End than there will be for Mr. Chadsey to jump out of bed and be driven to a conflagration. Some pain-racked accident victim, or distressed spectators standing about an unconscious form, will derive small pleasure in the future at knowing the Safety Director's car is standing a few blocks away while the ambulance is hurrying through traffic a few miles away.

THE N. A. M.'S WEAK REPLY.

The National Association of Manufacturers makes a weak reply to the La Follette Civil Liberties Committee. It attempts to answer the committee's criticism of the N. A. M.'s fund raising and propaganda by criticising the committee in turn. To the N. A. M. the committee's report to the Senate is "a tissue of half truths." The investigations the committee has conducted have comprised "a two-year inquisition." All in all, the committee has been engaged in "a smear campaign against business."

If the N. A. M. was unable to make a better reply than this, it would have been better for it to have remained silent. Its very failure to address itself to the chief points in the committee report is an acceptance of them. The N. A. M. does not deny that it has flooded the country with propaganda, lavishly paid for by large corporations. It does not deny that this is a use of corporations' funds about which most stockholders know little or nothing. It does not deny that these expenditures may violate the well-established public policy forbidding corporations to make contributions to campaign funds.

The N. A. M. is entitled to have its say. It must have that say, however, in the open and above board as well as within the law. Its propaganda should be presented as propaganda and nothing else. People, who may be influenced by propaganda, have every right to know its origin, the source and extent of the funds which underwrite it, and the ends the propagandists seek to attain. This holds for business men as well as Government officials.

THE W P A WAGE HIKE.

In raising the pay of its employees $2.50 a month, the Works Projects Administration has eased one of the wage difficulties handed it by the last Congress and intensified another.

Congress directed the WPA to limit the differentials which have hitherto existed between the scale of pay in the North and the South to the difference in the cost of living between the two sections, but to leave the average pay substantially the same. Followed implicitly, this would have meant sharp rises in pay in the South and sharp decreases in the North.

The decrease in the North would have run from 12 to 15 per cent, but in view of the blanket increase it will now average only about 6 per cent. It is hoped by this means to prevent the spread in the North of militant discontent such as marked the abandonment of the "prevailing wage" rule a few weeks ago.

On the other hand, the general increase in pay will add to the discontent of influential employing groups in the South, who have protested that even the old wage scale caused labor, particularly in the rural sections, to demand more for private work than it had been accustomed to receive. The wage for unskilled labor in the rural South will jump from $26 to $35 a month.

There is no reason, in abstract justice, why WPA workers in the South should not receive real wages equal to those paid in the North. This, in fact, is the concept back of the wage-hour law. The fact remains, nevertheless, that such a sharp increase in the WPA wage scale in the rural South will give rise to painful economic dislocations. It will be possible to give work at these rates to only a minor fraction of those who will want it, for in some Southern states the average family income is less than $35 a month. In many rural counties the relief worker, drawing $420 a year, will be a veritable aristocrat.

In spite of the temporary anomalies to which it may give rise, the policy of forbidding the WPA to discriminate between sections is a sound one and should be accepted as permanent.

SPECTACLES FOR IL DUCE.

For at least 15 years, Mussolini has dominated Italy. At the same time, he almost has succeeded in dominating movie reels and rotogravure sections as well. It has been a rare week that did not find Il Duce portrayed motorcycling, skiing, swimming, hunting, riding or fencing. He has been the personification of physical vigor to his Fascist followers. But now a dispatch from Paris in the New York Times, purporting to give full facts on his state of health, says that doctors at last have persuaded Il Duce to swallow his pride and wear glasses, thus relieving the nervous strain that has aggravated minor stomach ulcers from which he has suffered. So, at 57, Mussolini has to give recognition to the gradual inroads of age. He must admit that he is not immortal. He often has appeared in pictures with a military pouch at his side. The addition of spectacles is in line with Shakespeare's description of man's sixth age: "With spectacles on nose and pouch on side."

In the case of the Vanderbilts, if Father Divine's deal goes through, it will be three generations from shirt sleeves to "heaven."

MR. HOPKINS SITS IN A SCANDAL.

Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins has something to answer to in the use of the WPA for private road-building, filling and transplanting at the summer lodge of John J. Pryor, indicted Pendergast politician, near Henrietta, Mo.

Mr. Hopkins was Federal administrator of the WPA when this shocking perversion of the WPA occurred, in the fall of 1936. He was still national administrator when John C. Page, a WPA worker at the politicians' rendezvous, wrote his complaint direct to President Roosevelt. He still sat in the administrator's seat when the WPA conducted the investigation which resulted in Pryor's paying the Federal Government $1367.

Did Mr. Hopkins have under him a staff so poorly organized and with such a personnel, that the facts in this case were not laid before him? Then he was a bad administrator, not at all the man to head an enterprise which called for honest administration and efficiency above all else.

Did Mr. Hopkins have the facts and deliberately keep them from the people of Missouri? Then he was guilty of suppressing a scandal. What he did was worse than the original wrong of the political managers of Missouri's WPA.

In short, Mr. Hopkins either hushed up a prostitution of the WPA for political reasons or he presided over an organization that was unreliable and incompetent. Either way, Mr. Hopkins is without defense.

The failure of Harry Hopkins to fire Matthew Murray, his key man in Missouri, was inexcusable. It remains a sorry blot on his record as WPA administrator. It stands to discredit him as Secretary of Commerce. What he did not do, is now the duty of his successor, Col. Harrington.

Purge Missouri of Murray!

And now a chap pops up to call Nicholas Murray Butler "the nation's greatest Anglophile." That's one the prohibitionists never thought of.

A SUITE ON THE CHICAGO POLICE.

Conductor Josef Pasternack, enchanted by the luring notes of whistle-playing Chicago traffic cops, is going to weave them into a suite. Strolling through the Loop, he made musical notations. No two policemen tooted or trilled the same. At State and Madison he heard a pleasing combination of C and G. Two blocks on he caught an A, E, C theme. Ah, such warbling! Indeed, Pasternack may turn out a suite comparable to those that early-day composers built on sweet notes of pastoral pipes. But it should not be confined to linnet-like piping. In the background there should be a few somber passages for the percussion instruments built on the coldly efficient club wielding that the Chicago police performed on Memorial day of 1937 at the Republic Steel Co.

Uncle Sam may have put the pressure on him, as he says, but Wendell L. Willkie, fat and prosperous utility magnate, is not the type for the part of martyr.

WARS ARE STARTED SO EASILY THESE DAYS.

"Try to Make Nazis Out of Us!"

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Campaign of Hitler's Ministry of Propaganda to convert 30,000,000 German-Americans to Nazi-ism is doomed to failure, writer asserts; Fritz Kuhn's Bunds are noisy and ridiculous minorities among millions who have defended democracy against aggression of tyrants.

William Seabrook, Author of "Asylum," in Current History.

HEIL HITLER! From Nordic German

Rhineland—the Hudson.

Your Ministry of Propaganda has succeeded in awakening us to the fact that we, along with perhaps 30,000,000 others in this United States of ours, are of predominantly Aryan German origin. We had almost forgotten it. We've been Yankees so long. But our town was originally named "Rheinbach," after the village in Rhenish Prussia from which, in 1715, our first settlers came. And though many of our own names have been anglicized, in our veins there flows the thickest, best Teutonic Nordic blood on earth.

And now you have under way a consistent drive to warm up that German blood—in the hope of lining up for your own purposes all ancestrally Aryan Germans in America. Few people realize how ambitious your drive is, or that your Nazis are compiling a card-index of all German families who migrated to America—and following up their descendants with Nazi blood-brotherhood propaganda.

We are being assured that Nazi-ism is a world movement bound to end in Teutonic domination of America, and are invited to get aboard the band wagon. This propaganda is even being disseminated by circulars and letters sent direct to us Americans of German ancestry, designed to persuade us to become "Amerikaner" instead of plain American.

Well, since you're telling us you know we're "Nazi at heart," it's going to be nice to let you hear from us in turn. For myself, my middle name is Buhler (with the umlaut, mind you). I'm blond, blue-eyed, flat-nosed, Russian, Lutheran, and I loathe everything German. I think it has no more chance among my neighbors. It's not because of what you've been doing to German Lutherans, Catholics, Czechs, Poles, Jews, so much as because of what you would do, if you could, to everything that's free, honest and decent on earth.

I own 10 acres up a back road here that was originally cut through virgin forest by blond Nordic Germans who have fled the Fatherland to escape the same sort of persecution, torture and military madness that are again clutching Germany. Our road runs to Wurttemberg, past farms still owned by Luizes, Marquards, Schultzes, Ackerts and Hartmanns, who all hold you in horror because they believe you are a menace to decency and civilization.

I know exactly what they think of you, because I've been talking with them by the score. Every one of them spoke of you with epithets the least as bitter of which were "beast" and "mad dog."

The response of these German-American neighbors of mine is the best answer to the question that many people are asking: "Will Hitler's propaganda for German racial unity take hold in America?" It won't.

I think it has no more chance among the Germans in the rest of America than among the Germans in German-founded Rhineland. With childish naïveté, the Nazis tell us this is "Unser Amerika." You bet your boots it's "Our America" in the deepest sense. We helped build it, we love it, and we are just as much a part of it as anybody who hailed from London, Edinburgh, Donegal. What the Nazis blindly overlook is that our Germanic ancestors came over here precisely to get away from the Hitler and Storm Troopers of their day—and that in the process of making America "ours," we have made ourselves "America's."

"If you're of German descent," the Nazis say, "you are German always, owing loyalty to the German Reich." That would include the bulk of St. Louis, more or less; a fourth of all Chicago; much of Pennsylvania, except the Quakers; a good fourth of all our farming population, including all those who followed Carl Schurz over here seeking liberty from the kind of thing that now goes on in Germany; and the bulk of Baltimore. They're going to make Nazi sympathizers too out of all the descendants of Molly Pitcher who was born Maria Ludwig; Gen. Custer; Barbara Fritchie; a half dozen Civil War Generals; World War Colonels and doughboys; and John Philip Sousa, half German, who wrote "The Stars and Stripes Forever." You can go on with this yourself, adding cities, sections, individuals, and the further you go the crazier it gets.

To Hitler I say: If you focus attention on Germany's historic contributions to America, as your propagandists have been doing, you are much more likely to make democrats out of decent Germans in Germany than to make Nazis out of our Germans over here. For, when you consider what those contributions are, it follows inevitably that descendants of the people who made them, whether living here or gagged in Germany, could never normally hold militarism and oppression in anything but horror.

The kindergarten, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, our American Youth Hostels, the models on which our great liberal universities are based, are all German in origin. Germany gave us Martin Luther's church which follows the teachings of the right of Catholics, Jews, and everybody else to worship God as they see fit. German-Americans, clashing hands with the Quakers, gave us our abhorrence of aggressive militarism.

Yet I'm wondering whether the greatest German contribution of all hasn't been simply the average German's patience, thrift and clearly ripe in slow, honest, lasting, self-respecting work. It has certainly been of priceless value in our often-too-hurried American national life. Under the surface of our seeming haste their solid craftsmanship has done a lot to help keep us sound. The German artisan, craftsman, farmer and storekeeper, are inextricably woven into the fabric of America.

I am not ignoring the existence of Fritz Kuhn's Bunds, of Nazi sympathizers and propagandists. But no matter how much noise they make they are merely a ridiculous minority when balanced against the twenty or thirty million Americans of German ancestry who help to man, have manned and will man again our fortress of democracy against the aggression of tyrants.

Indeed, one of them may lead us again, as an "Amerikaner" did in the war against the Kaiser. His name was John J. Pershing and his family spelled it Pforthin as late as 1860. Try, indeed, to make Nazis out of us!

ALSO RUNNING.

John Garner was a very important person in the news circles until he announced his intention to campaign for the presidential nomination in 1940. That statement qualified him as just one of the boys.

The Name Is Milligan

From the Daily Oklahoman.

AMONG the many Herculean labors undertaken by the ambitious in this age of grace is that of convincing the public that Attorney-General Murphy is entitled to all the credit of pulverizing the Pendergast machine in Kansas City. The magnanimous contributors who are so eagerly giving Murphy credit and the purification of the Kansas metropolis must take an amazing lot of granted.

The name is Milligan. While Murphy was working overtime in his desperate efforts to forget the laws of Michigan in the sulphur days of the sit-down strikes, Maurice Milligan was under the Kansas City machine with a veritable orgy of grand jury indictments and district court prosecutions. Long before Murphy had terminated his gubernatorial service up at Lansing, Michigan, the Federal District Attorney of the Western District had filled entire wardens' jail houses and the penitentiary with crooked election officials who from first to last have been the shock troops of the Pendergast army. The machine's foundation had been pretty well cut from under before Murphy rendered the valued aid which helped send Pendergast to Leavenworth.

For the help he rendered in the closing days of the drama Murphy is entitled to hearty praise. Gov. Stark also is to be praised for the very powerful help he rendered throughout the campaign for the cleaning up of Kansas City.

But make no mistake about it; the machine which launched the fight, faced the bullets and did the heavy work of the campaign was United States Attorney Milligan. In zeal to honor and crown national figures of presidential size the country should not forget the intrepid Prosecutor who declared war on the machine when his cause was considered practically hopeless.

MATERNAL MORTALITY.

From the Dallas Morning News.

IN Texas, 276 mothers owe their lives to factors that have lowered the maternal mortality rate in the last six years. In 1937 77 Texas mothers died for every 10,000 live births; last year this figure was reduced to 54. This improvement is attributed largely to the increase in hospital beds available for delivery service, increase in the number of mothers under supervision of public health clinics, gain in the number of prenatal clinics for the poor, and better training of doctors in obstetrics.

The battle against the unnecessary deaths of mothers at childbirth has not been fought won, however. Despite the recent improvement, 662 Texas mothers died last year while bearing children who will have to grow up without their guidance. The Texas State Department of Health estimates that the present maternal death rate could be cut 50 per cent if prenatal care by a physician were available to all the women of Texas.

Despite the rapid advances in medical science in this country, the maternal mortality rate has remained tragically high in comparison with those of most other civilized countries. Heartening progress in reducing this rate has been made nationally in the last few years, but there are still far too many American women without the prenatal care they need and too many babies delivered in unsanitary conditions. Remedy of this should be one of the aims of the public health service and medical associations.

American Foreign Policy

THE American foreign policy reiterated often in words, adds verbally to the following: Non-interference in the political affairs of Europe; the maintenance of the Monroe Doctrine; the Open Door in the Far East; the maintenance of the sanctity of treaties, and a readiness at all times peacefully to arbitrate differences and to collaborate in the reduction of armaments.

As a matter of fact, we can hardly be said to have a foreign policy at all, and the congressional action in rejecting the administration's recommendations regarding neutrality makes it difficult for us to have one. Without implementation, policy is merely platitude.

The strategy of the foreign policy of "dynamic" Powers is to create a situation in which they can be the victims of aggression. Danzig is an illustration. The National Socialist plan is to engineer a coup in Danzig, by peaceful means—peaceful means now means propaganda, house-to-house organization, and steady work in other words, revolutionary means. Danzig will then declare its intention to join the Reich, and the declaration will immediately be accepted and Danzig declared part of German soil.

We still assert the Open Door in the Far East, but meanwhile the door is being steadily closed by Japan, until now with the assistance of our scrap iron and our oil. The theory that we alone can stop this process by means short of war is highly questionable. An embargo of the United States alone against Japan would certainly cripple and inconvenience her, but it would also furnish her with the best possible argument for her own very clear foreign policy, which is to create self-sufficiency for her in the Far East by establishing a monopolistic area in China for her sole exploitation.

Economic sanctions against Japan imposed by the United States alone will not stop Japan in China. They may serve to rivet Japan inexorably to the axis Powers, to destroy her own trade with Europe, and eventually we will still be faced both by the loss of our markets in China and by the permanent loss of our market in Japan.

Then, there is the Monroe Doctrine. The essence of the Monroe Doctrine is that the United States will not tolerate that any South American state should become the seat of a new European colonial empire. This is a condition devoutly to be wished, but just how are we going to prevent it?

We still seem to think that this possible vassalage can only arise if some non-American Power lands troops in South America and proceeds to take over state after state by force. This is old-fashioned stuff.

Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Chicago Episcopal Diocese directed that the burial ground be consecrated.

Mrs. McCormick served as a war nurse in France while her husband was at the front, and came of a military family. Her father, the late Gen. B. J. D. Irwin, fought in the Indian and Civil wars, and her brother was the late Gen. George Roy Irwin.

STANLEY'S EXPLOIT RECOUNTED ON SCREEN

Reporter's Famous Search for Livingstone Effectively Shown in Film at Fox.

"STANLEY AND LIVINGSTONE," the film which arrived at the Fox Theater yesterday, is, as its title indicates, a dramatization of the search which Henry M. Stanley, reporter for the New York Herald, made in Central Africa in 1871 for the noted explorer and missionary, Dr. David Livingstone.

Spencer Tracy is entrusted with Stanley's mission, Sir Cedric Hardwicke has 20 minutes or so on the screen as Livingstone. An expedition dispatched to Africa under the direction of Mrs. Martin Johnson captured the necessary background shots and the whole has been very artfully put together, studio representations and the real thing.

The account of Stanley's journey varies in certain details from the facts but conforms as near as movie taboo and practice will permit. The journey is the "Trader Horn" variety, more mystery is created about the livingstone's whereabouts than Stanley's own account would justify but the film has unity, dramatic sweep and climactic scenes of value.

Tracy's performance is excellent but a rather easy one, all considered, since he has only one sequence in which he is required to create awe in the onlookers. This occurs near the end of the picture, when he faces the brahmins of the Royal Geographic Society, to defend his report on Africa and Dr. Livingstone's discoveries, and even its historical authenticity should not be trusted too far.

The real punch in the film is put there by Hardwicke, who is everything Stanley describes Livingstone to be—a true, noble Christian, generous-hearted frank man. To all persons who have soured on the missionary idea, all who look upon the gospel messengers through "Rain," the feature at the Fox is a rebuke to the old-time religion, a stirring revelation of a white saint in a black continent.

The standard of casting measures up in every way to the two foremost roles. Henry Hull makes a strong impression as the Herald publisher, James Gordon Bennett Jr.; Charles Coburn, as a rival English publisher, and Walter Brennan, as an American frontiersman who accompanies Stanley, are equally strong though far more fictional. Henry Travers slyly walks off with several scenes by deliberate underplaying. Richard Dix and Nancy Kelly indicate that love is not absent even in Zanzibar.

A novel method of presentation, and one up to the minute in movie technique, is the narration by Tracy of part of the story, as if reading from Stanley's own journal. This method has never been used before in a film of the proportions of "Stanley and Livingstone" and is both effective and economical.

Four Walt Disney cartoons and other short subjects, including an interesting camera tour of the New York World's Fair, take the place of a second feature at the Fox.

The music of "Victoria and Her Hussar," a recent success in London and other European cities, is by Paul Abraham, Hungarian composer. The libretto was written by Alfred Grünwald and Dr. Fritz Lohner-Beda, from a Hungarian story by Emerich Foldes, and translated by Harry Graham. Its action, laid in Hungary, centers around the romance of a cavalry officer and a society woman.

PLUMS FOR JAM ASSURE SPREAD FOR HOT BISCUITS

Good old-fashioned plums, turned into jam, will assure you of an excellent spread for your winter bread and biscuits.

Plum Jam.
Four cups (two pounds) prepared fruit.

Seven and one-half cups (three and one-quarter pounds) sugar.

To prepare fruit, pit about two and one-half pounds fully ripe fruit. Do not peel. Cut in small pieces and crush thoroughly. Add one-fourth cup water, bring to a boil and simmer, covered, five minutes. (Sour, clingstone plums give best color and flavor. If sweet plums or freestone plums are used, substitute one-fourth cup lemon juice for one-fourth cup of prepared fruit specified.)

Measure sugar and prepared fruit into large kettle, mix well and bring to a boil. Boil until thick, taking care to prevent burning. When thick remove from fire and let cool for a few minutes. Turn in sterilized jars and seal.

Use all scraps of soap. Boil one pint with four quarts of water. This makes a soft jelly soap for all cleaning purposes.

GRAPE JELLY FINDS MANY USES FOR WINTER MEALS

Even if you've made jam and jelly all through the summer, not missing a single fruit or berry, don't miss making grape jelly. For the delightful tartness of grape jelly will add the final touch of flavor contrast to so many winter meals. Grape jelly with cold meat, as a filling for a cake, beaten into pudding sauces—while grape jelly will lift the homely, every-day rice or milk pudding to new heights.

Grape Jelly.
Four cups (2 pounds) Juice; 7½ cups (3½ pounds) sugar; one-half bottle fruit pectin.

To prepare juice, stem about three pounds fully ripe grapes and crush thoroughly. Add one-half cup water, bring to a boil, cover and simmer 10 minutes. Place fruit in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. (Concord grapes give best color and flavor. If Malagas or other tight-skinned grapes are used, use ¾ cups grape juice, and add strained juice of two medium lemons.)

Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard one-half minute. Remove from fire, stir in pectin quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes about 11 glasses (six fluid ounces each).

PROPELLER CONTROLS URGED FOR AIRLINERS

Report to CAA Says Such Devices Might Have Averted 3 Crashes.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP).—The air safety board urged the civil aeronautics authority yesterday to require propeller control mechanisms designed to lessen the hazards of motor failure on multi-engine passenger aircraft.

The board, an independent agency within the CAA, reported that two airline disasters within the last 14 months might have been averted had the planes involved been equipped with mechanisms which permit the pilot to stop the propeller of the disabled engine. Nineteen persons lost their lives in the two accidents.

The board added that a third aircraft was destroyed by impact and fire, and the pilot painfully burned, might have been avoided by the same means.

Five Crashes Reviewed.

While the report dealt primarily with the board's investigation of a Braniff Airways crash at Oklahoma City on March 28, which occurred shortly after the plane had taken off from the airport and which cost eight lives, it included a study of four other airline accidents caused by engine failures.

"In none of these cases," the board said, "were the planes concerned equipped with full-feathering propellers or other means of stopping the propeller from rotating, thereby eliminating vibration and reducing drag after the engine had ceased to function."

Several far-sighted operators, the board added, "have already taken the step recommended with respect to a substantial part of their equipment."

The air safety board advised the CAA "to give due consideration to the financial burden which would be placed on industry by the proposed requirement." It suggested this be done in determining compensation for the transportation of airmail.

Factors in Oklahoma Crash.

The board said the Oklahoma City accident probably was caused by "a stall, induced by a violent yaw resulting in loss of control from which the pilot was unable to recover." As contributing factors it listed:

Failure of hold-down studs on No. 6 cylinder of the left engine, which resulted in the cylinder being forced off, carrying with it the lower third of the engine ring cowl.

Displacement of the remaining portion of the left engine ring cowl, which caused buffeting as a result of disturbance of the air flow over the tail surfaces, and increased the drag on that side of the aircraft.

Severe vibration induced by the continued rotation of the propeller. Lack of individual propeller pitch controls which would have permitted the pilot to increase the pitch of the propeller on the inoperative engine, thereby reducing the speed of rotation and consequently the vibration from the effect of the "windmilling."

JIM LONDOS, WRESTLER WEDS ST. LOUIS GIRL IN CALIFORNIA

Ceremony Takes Place at Home of Charles P. Skouras; Honeymoon to Hawaii and Australia.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17 (AP).—Jim Londos, the wrestler, and Miss Arva Rochwite of St. Louis, former University of Missouri student, were married yesterday at the Beverly Hills home of Charles P. Skouras, theater magnate. They left for Honolulu and Australia, where Londos will combine a honeymoon with several mat appearances.

Londos, reputedly wealthy after more than 20 years of wrestling, said his bride was opposed to the sport but that he hoped to continue wrestling "two or three years."

One of many claimants at the present for the world's heavyweight title, Londos was born Chris Theophanis in Greece "more than 40 years ago."

The bride, an aviation enthusiast, gave her age as 27. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Rochwite of St. Louis.

Mrs. Londos, a graduate of Clayton High School, formerly lived with her parents at 10 North Lyle avenue, Clayton.

EDITOR FOUND DEAD IN LAKE

Henry E. Roethe, Former State Senator of Wisconsin, Once Candidate for Governor.

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 16 (AP).—Henry E. Roethe, co-publisher of the Fennimore (Wis.) Times and once a candidate for Governor, was found dead in Lake Monona here yesterday. He was 72 years old.

He had been in ill health, Coroner Fisher said. From June 19 to Aug. 10 he had been a patient at the Wisconsin General Hospital. He was popularly known as the "Leg-o-Mobile Editor" and the "Leg-o-Mobile candidate for Governor" because he walked about the countryside conducting his political campaigns and gathering news for his paper. He served both as an Assemblyman and State Senator.

Death Sentence Commuted.
SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 17 (AP).—The death sentence of Harry French, Altura (Cal.) editor, who shot a rival newspaper publisher, was commuted to life imprisonment by Gov. Olson yesterday. French killed Claude McCracken in Modoc County in March, 1937. He contended he was emotionally unbalanced.

VARIETY IN MENU DESERVES REPETITION

New Meat Dishes Often Make New Meal—Use of Thrifty Cuts.

Variety in menu making is a theme that deserves frequent repetition. The meat is such an important part of the meal that a new meat dish makes a new meal for the family. Every day there is a worthwhile bargain at your meat counter, and it pays to shop a bit to find it. Because meat is perishable, an over-supply of one item brings down the price, and there's your chance to save pennies. Then, too, you may venture into the fascinating realm of untried recipes, changing and originating a bit, perhaps, to accomplish the desired results.

Kidney and Bacon Grill.
 Use lamb or veal kidney. Wash, split lengthwise and remove all pieces of white tubes. Wrap each piece with bacon. Dip into beaten egg, then sifted crumbs. Bake in a hot oven or broil until bacon is well browned. Serve hot with a tart sauce.

Scrambled Dried Beef.
 One cup dried beef.
 Two tablespoons fat.
 One cup tomatoes (fresh or canned).
 One-half cup grated cheese.
 Four eggs.
 Pepper, mustard.
 Lightly brown the shredded beef in the fat. Add the tomatoes and cook a few minutes. Stir in beaten eggs. Add cheese and stir until eggs are just set, but not hard. Serve on buttered toast. Accompany with a tart salad.

Baked Corned Beef Hash.
 One cup cooked corned beef.
 One cup cooked potatoes.
 One tablespoon fat.
 One tablespoon onion.
 One-fourth cup milk.
 Place fat in heavy baking dish. Combine other ingredients, being careful not to overmix or break up potatoes. Fill dish one to one and one-half inches deep. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 45 minutes, or until well browned. Add more milk, if necessary, to keep moist.

To serve, cut into squares and serve with stuffed baked tomato or tomato salad.

Tongue in Piquant Sauce.
 Simmer a well-trimmed beef tongue about three hours, or until tender. Trim, slice in equal-sized slices. Lay in a frying pan or baking dish. Cover with hot piquant sauce. Simmer 20 minutes. Serve hot with cole slaw.

Piquant Sauce.
 Brown two tablespoons butter or margarine with two tablespoons flour. Stir in slowly one cup of tomato juice. Season with one tablespoon horseradish, one teaspoon prepared mustard, one tablespoon Worcestershire sauce.

CHOCOLATE CUP CAKES WITH TENDER CRUMBS FAVORED
 Next to chocolate cake, chocolate cup cakes rank high in favor. These have a tender crumb and are very delicate.

Chocolate Cup Cakes.
 Sift together two cups sifted cake flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon salt. Cream one-half cup butter, then add gradually one and one-half cups sugar and cream together thoroughly. Add two eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after addition of each. Add two and one-half tablespoons vinegar gradually, to one cup milk, stirring rapidly. Then add to butter mixture alternately with the sifted dry ingredients, beginning and ending with flour. Beat until smooth after each addition. Add one teaspoon vanilla and three ounces melted chocolate which have been melted over hot water.

Bake in greased cup cake pans in a hot oven (400 degrees) 25 minutes. Add one teaspoon lemon juice to the water in which rice is cooked to keep it white and fluffy.

Jam Session Now Means Well Stocked Shelves

Plentiful Supply of Fruits in Markets for Winter Needs—Fruit and Sugar are Ingredients.

Jams, preserves and marmalades, keep the shape of the fruit. A good jam is words to conjure with at this season of the year. With plentiful supplies coming on the market, every housewife will want to put by the fruits in some form or other against next winter's need.

The name jam is generally applied to fruits preserved by cooking with sugar without trying to usually small fruits and some of the large ones, sliced, cut into pieces or diced, are used for jams. Fruits low in pectin may be combined with those having a higher percentage if a jelly-like consistency is desired. Berries may be crushed or left whole. Plums, grapes and peaches should have the seeds or pits removed, as the skins if they are inedible.

Fruit and sugar are the only ingredients necessary to make jam. Measure the prepared fruit into the preserving kettle and add two-thirds as much sugar by measure. Stir the mixture over the heat until the sugar is dissolved and the mixture comes to a boil. The cooking should be rapid in order to preserve the bright natural color and the natural flavor. Boil until it has a thick consistency and the fruit is clear. Some precaution should be taken to avoid burning.

Remove kettle from the heat and let the mixture stand a few minutes so that it may stiffen slightly and thus help prevent the fruit from floating in the liquid. Pour jam into clean hot jars and seal; or pour into clean hot glasses and when cold, cover the jam with hot paraffin. If glasses are used the mixture should be cooked to a jelly-like consistency.

Damson Plum Jam.
Four quarts damson plums.
One quart cold water.
Sugar.
Wash plums, add water and cook the fruit until the skins are soft. Cool and remove the seeds. Measure, add two-thirds as much sugar and proceed as in the manner given above. The flavor of the plums should be practically unchanged and the color should be a rich, sparkling red.

Grape Jam.
Wash the grapes. Remove the stems and press the pulp from the skins. Cook the pulp and put it through a sieve to remove the seeds. Add the skins to the pulp, measure this mixture and add two-thirds as much sugar. Cook until the skins are tender, about 20 minutes and proceed as above.

Peace and Orange Jam.
One pint diced peaches.
Juice of one orange.
Grated rind of one-half orange.
Juice of one lemon.
Sugar.
Measure the prepared fruit and juice and add two-thirds as much sugar and the grated rind. Heat, stirring until the sugar is dissolved. Boil the mixture until it is thick and clear and proceed as in the directions given above.

Carrot Honey.
One pint grated raw carrots.
Two cups sugar.
Grated rind of one lemon.
Juice of two lemons.
Mix the ingredients well, heat slowly and cook the mixture until it is thick and clear. Proceed as in the general directions for making jam. This is excellent with cold meat.

Tomato and Pineapple Jam.
One quart tomatoes, fresh or canned.
Two lemons.
One pint diced tart apples.
Four cups sugar.
One cup cooked shredded pineapple.
Quarter the lemons and cut them into thin slices, cover them with water and cook until tender. Add the tomatoes, apples, pineapple and sugar; boil until the mixture is thick and clear. Follow directions for jam making given above.

Watermelon Preserves.
Use only the white part from the rind. Cut into inch pieces and soak for three and one-half hours in lime water containing one-fifth ounce lime to one quart water. Drain and place in clear water for one hour. Drain and boil for one and one-half hours in fresh water. Drain. To each pound before lime water treatment use two quarts water, one pound sugar and one-half lemon thinly sliced, spices, or ginger root. Make a syrup of the sugar and two quarts of water. Drop watermelon rind and ginger root into the boiling syrup. Boil for about one hour. As the syrup thickens add lemon and spices, if desired. When somewhat thick, pack into sterilized jars, add syrup to cover and seal.

Holiday Jam.
One cup diced apples.
Juice and grated rind of one lemon.
One cup cooked crushed pineapple.
One and one-half cups water.
Three cups sugar.
Cook the cranberries and the apple in the water until they are tender. Add the pineapple, the lemon and the sugar. Mix well and boil the mixture rapidly until thick and clear. Proceed as in the general directions for making jam.

French Corn Muffins.
Beat three eggs until light, add one cup milk, one-half cup melted butter, and following dry ingredients, sifted together three times: Half cup sugar, one and one-half cups flour, one-fourth cup cornmeal, three teaspoons baking powder. Bake in buttered muffin tins in a hot oven for 30 minutes.

FROM FAR CORNERS

EGGPLANT is a popular vegetable in the Far East and Occidentals who like it but grow weary of the usual ways of serving it here is: Eggplant With Minced Meat. One-half pound lamb. One large eggplant. Four tablespoons butter. Two small onions. Two ripe tomatoes.

Slice egg plant into one-inch thick pieces and fry lightly in half the butter. Arrange the slices in a deep baking dish, pressing a hollow in the center of each with the back of a spoon. Mince the meat, chop the onions very fine, season with salt and pepper and fry in the remainder of the butter. Place a spoonful of the mixture in the hollow of each slice. Over all place the tomatoes which have been cut in small pieces. Add a little cold water and place in a moderate oven for 15 minutes or until the eggplant is tender.

PATCH RAIDER KILLED
Mother Boy Wounded; South Dakota Farmer Held.
BROOKINGS, S. D., Aug. 17 (AP).—One boy was killed and another wounded Tuesday night following a raid on a watermelon patch. Tony Moberg, about 65 years old, was arrested in connection with the shooting which occurred on his place. John Albert, 14, high school boy, was killed by a shotgun discharge. Niel Koerper, 14, was treated at a hospital for wounds. Two other boys reported in the melon patch escaped uninjured. They said Moberg fired after calling for them to halt.

A. F. L. MOVIE UNIONS TO AID IN U. S. INQUIRY

Two Groups Intimate, However, That Murphy Helps CIO in Its Campaign.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17 (AP).—American Federation of Labor affiliates don't like the way the Government started its investigation of film industry labor relations, but promise co-operation anyway. In a joint statement, the Central Labor Council, a governing body for various A. F. of L. unions, and the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees expressed regret that the arrival here last Monday of Special Assistant United States Attorney-General Charles H. Carr was "timed for this particular moment."

"We cannot help but make the assumption," the statement said, "that in some manner the Attorney-General (Frank Murphy) has been induced to use the prestige of his office to aid the campaign of the CIO against the American Federation of Labor."

"It is noteworthy that Mr. Carr's first action in Los Angeles was to make public the private instructions given him by his superior, the contents of which, as a matter of fair play, should have been withheld until backed by tangible evidence."

The International Alliance last week obtained an agreement from film producers granting a closed shop for 12,000 studio workers. It climaxed weeks of inter-union strife and recent formation of the United Studio Technicians' Guild, an independent opposition union. The latter's petition for a collective bargaining election is before the National Labor Relations Board.

Although United Technicians' officers have stressed that their organization is independent, the A. F. of L. statement asserted that nine weeks of court litigation had "resulted in complete victories for the International Alliance over the Jeff Kibbe-CIO group, whose complaints Mr. Carr is instructed to investigate."

Kibbe, a rank-and-file International Alliance leader long critical of the union's methods of operation, was a moving figure in United Technicians' organization.

Among Carr's announced objectives of investigation were charges of film labor racketeering and collusion between studio employees and union leaders.

Thurman Arnold Rejects Movie Concerns' Trade Practice Code. WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP).—Thurman Arnold, Assistant Attorney-General, expressed disapproval today of a proposed trade practice

JOBS REPORT IS IN MAYOR'S OFFICE, BUT NOT IN HIS HANDS

Vacations of Dickmann Secretary, Who Has It, and Efficiency Board Head Delay Action.

Mayor Dickmann still intends to "do something" about having more than one member of a family on the city payroll, he told reporters yesterday, but he wasn't certain just when he would get around to it.

Asked about the report on city employees under his jurisdiction living at the same address, which he requested of Chairman George B. Tracy of the Efficiency Board last May, the Mayor said he had not received it. The report, he was told, was turned over to his secretary, John B. Sullivan, last week when the Mayor was on vacation.

Since Sullivan had gone on vacation immediately upon his return, it would be necessary for him to wait until Sullivan got back to get the report, the Mayor contended. But even then, it wasn't certain that he could make an immediate study of the report, since Tracy, whose interpretation is desired, will leave on his vacation when Sullivan returns, Mayor Dickmann added.

code submitted by motion picture companies against whom anti-trust proceedings have been instituted. He sent a letter to the major movie concerns saying the code appeared to be "an elaborate set of practices superimposed on a 'combination of producers, distributors and exhibitors which the department contents is an illegal and unreasonable restraint of trade.'"

Arnold did not disclose details of the code, but said it "assumes that the present organization of the motion picture industry is legal."

"While the code appears to be voluntary, the practical effect of its adoption under existing conditions might be to compel independents to comply in order to survive," Arnold said.

In addition to the illegality of the code in failing to provide for divestiture of production and distribution from exhibition, various specific provisions of the code are directly challenged by the Government in the pending litigation against the major companies.

Arnold said the Justice Department reaffirmed its original position that distributors and producers should be divorced from exhibitors. The department charged a month ago that independent theaters were being driven out of business, new competitors in the movie field found it difficult to obtain films on a non-discriminatory basis and independent producers were handicapped because major companies dominated exhibition houses.

"These conditions in the opinion of the department will not be remedied by the proposed code," Arnold said. "It is based upon a structure of the industry which the department expects to show is in clear and open violation of the Sherman anti-trust law."

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND IN TRUNK AT ATLANTA

Discovered at Railway Station on Arrival From Washington —Shipped Tuesday.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 17 (AP).—The body of a young woman believed to be a mulatto was found today in a trunk at the Terminal Railway Station.

The trunk had arrived yesterday from Washington. Police opened it after station employees noticed an odor.

The body was clad in a slip, brassiere and bloomers and was lying face down. There was a pool of blood under the head and police reported discolored on the back, one hip and leg might be bruised. The victim had been dead several days, it was said.

The trunk was of a lightweight and inexpensive type, tan in color. It was tied with a strand of rope. Newspapers had been stuffed around the body. Fingerprint tests of the trunk were ordered.

Railroad authorities said they would try to trace the identity of the shipper by determining the number of the railroad ticket against which the baggage check was issued.

Coroner Paul Donehoo went to the terminal to start an investigation.

Railway men said the trunk was shipped from Washington on a Seaboard train Tuesday and arrived here at 3:55 p. m. yesterday.

Traveler Reports $65 Robbery.
CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (AP).—Fred Drake, 29-year-old Mansfield (Mo.) cook, reported to police here today that he was blackjacked and robbed of $65 early this morning while walking during a brief stopover of a bus on which he was riding to St. Louis from Detroit. Drake said when he recovered consciousness and returned to the depot his bus had gone. He said he recognized his assailant as a fellow bus passenger.

COLD MEAT PLATTER GOOD BEGINNING FOR BUFFET MEAL

For the hostess who wishes to entertain a larger group of friends than her dining room can comfortably accommodate, the fashion of serving buffet meals solves a problem. The food can be attractively arranged on a long table, then carried to small tables set up where most convenient, possibly in the living room or, in summer time, upon the porch. The food can be prepared well ahead of time, and the guests do part of the serving themselves. Both of these features are an aid to the homemaker who does most of the work herself.

A buffet service can be very pretty. Linens, silver, china, flowers, candles, all contribute their beauty to the picture. And the food itself of course should be well worth its lovely setting.
Remember that the appetites of the guests must be satisfied, and that the food must be as tasty as it is decorative. See to it that the menu is well balanced. Have all the little "extras" you desire, but also serve food that will really satisfy as well as tempt. This is especially desirable if there are men in your party.

A platter of assorted cold meats and one hot dish, such as a creamed vegetable, will serve as a good basis for your buffet meal. See that this hot dish does not contain too much liquid. Escalloped potatoes or corn are good selections. Or perhaps you will want to serve a tempting potato salad. A gelatin salad of vegetables or fruits fits in well, also, and is easy to serve. Dessert and a beverage will complete the feast. With the cold meat, you may serve slices of buttered bread so that the guests can make sandwiches if they wish.
Slices of cold roast meat and meat loaf, cooked at home, may be used, along with an assortment of ready-cooked meats and various sausage slices. Thus you will give

BETHLEHEM STEEL CHIEF ATTACKS CIO

Grace Supports Appeal From NLRB Order in Effort to Protect Employees.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—Edward G. Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel Co., today issued a statement saying his company was seeking to protect its employees' "freedom in self-organization" by appealing from the National Labor Relations Board order directing Bethlehem to "cease and desist" from recognizing employees' representation plans in force for the last 20 years.

Grace said 93 to 96 per cent of employees in 1937, 1938 and 1939 elections had endorsed the plans. Charging the Labor Relations Board's ruling came as a result of CIO attempts to set up CIO unions in Bethlehem mills, Grace said: "The wishes of our employees are paramount. They can have any collective bargaining organization they want and we will bargain collectively with it. We believe, however, that our employees should be protected from being forced by anyone to accept an organization they do not want."

"This case was instigated by leaders of the CIO in a deliberate attempt to destroy the collective bargaining organizations of employees at our plants, which have existed over 20 years."

is higher than it has ever been; the volume of refinery throughput is also higher and this year's production of gasoline is also at an all-time peak. Accompanying this statistical position, much crude oil is being sold in the United States at prices below parity with the prices posted by most major purchasers.

"Our estimates make this figure approximately 600,000 barrels a day. No commodity can maintain a stable price level under such conditions. No purchaser can continue indefinitely to pay higher prices for crude oil than his competitors."

To the statement "it is within your power and a part of your responsibility to speedily correct this evil—or do your part to correct the evil," Parish replied:

"You grossly overestimate my power, or the power of the company with which I am connected. Standard of New Jersey, its subsidiaries and affiliates do only about 10 per cent of the business of the oil industry in the United States and are making no attempt to run anybody else's business or to direct anyone else's policies—but are confining themselves to the attempt to run their own business efficiently."

J. S. Bridwell, Wichita Falls operator, who threatened court action against the shutdown order, denounced it as "a spectacular but erroneous approach to the existing evil" but said he would withhold any legal attack and "string along with the majority."

Case Records of a PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Of Northwestern University

CASE M-194: Griselda is the wife whom I described in yesterday's article.

"I gave my husband the copy of your bulletin on 'Sex Problems in Marriage' when I got home yesterday afternoon," she announced over the telephone. "He read it and then grew so indignant he tore it into bits and threw it in the wastebasket. He said the things you mentioned weren't true, and he had never heard of such ideas in all his life!

"But they are true, Dr. Crane, and you might be interested in knowing that after I went to bed last night, my husband furtively dug the pieces out of the wastebasket and pieced them together again. He doesn't know I am aware of this, but I had wondered why he didn't come to bed, so I stole to the head of the stairs to see what he had done. And there he was at the library table fitting the fragments of paper together like a jig saw puzzle! Why are men so stubborn about admitting their errors?"

DIAGNOSIS: This isn't the first time that indignant persons of both sexes have torn up my educational bulletins and these tests for husbands and wives. Whenever this reaction occurs, I know that the information hit the very individual who needed it.

It is an axiom of psychology that we resent being proved in error. If my bulletin had not perfectly shown up Griselda's husband as being very inefficient, he would not have become irate. Because he was hit hard, he grew angry and tore my bulletin to pieces. But he recognized the essential truth of my indictment, so he tried to salvage the bulletin when he thought his wife was asleep.

As a rule, I do not like to educate the husbands through their wives, for husbands resent being taught marital deportment by their own wives.

YOU CAN READILY see why. By intimidation, the person being taught is regarded as inferior or subordinate to the teacher. And a man's sexual ego will not permit him to feel inferior to his wife. In this intolerable situation, Griselda's husband damned my bulletin, harshly denied the truth of the scientific statements contained therein, and publicly tore it to bits in her sight.

This behavior he deemed necessary to protect his masculine vanity. He felt he dared not admit his own errors before her, although secretly he knew he must avail himself of the knowledge in that bulletin or this Don Juan with whom she was so infatuated, would completely break up his home.

Compatibility is not the only pillar on which a happy home is built, for religion, idealism, a spirit of fair play and a regular pay check are also invaluable. Children are also excellent insurance. But Griselda had all of these except compatibility, and you have seen how near to the brink of divorce she came. A word to the wise should be sufficient!

Fashionable Barkeeper

By Inez Robb

NEW YORK, Aug. 17. BACK in the gas-lit era when "Ten Nights in a Barroom" was the great American drama, there may have been a soupçon of stigma attached to the profession of barkeeper.

But that was before invention had been produced by the depression out of necessity—or before the W. C. T. U. had acquired a swanky problem child known as Cafe Society. So Capt. Alastair Mackintosh, the town's fashionable barkeeper, still sits on the right hand of the Right Mmes. Astor, Vanderbilt, et al, at the right dinner parties.

"If anything, my friends have been nicer to me since I started opening bars," the Captain, a man about London, Paris, New York, Palm Beach, Hollywood and points East and West, said today as he contemplated a tomato juice cocktail in the Netherlands Bar.

CAPT. MACKINTOSH, anything on the cuff," he hastily added. "I take pride in maintaining my reputation, based on my nationality. It's Scotch to the last drop."

"HE'S GOT ONE-WAY pockets with fishhooks," spoke up William Rhineclander Stewart, scion of one of the Four Hundred's first families and beau ideal of international society. He had taken no part in the conversation up to this time, but it gives you a general idea of the Captain's pals.

"The depression was just as grim for me as everyone else. It occurred to me one day that I had spent so much time in front of bars that I might as well get in back," explained the Captain. "If experience counted for anything, I ought to be a sensational success in 60 days."

And that's exactly what the Captain, graduate of the proper British public schools and an officer in the proper British regiment, was when he opened his first venture, the Alibi Bar, in Palm Beach two years ago.

FOR MANY WINTERS the dashing Captain had spent the season in Palm Beach, a great social success both as the second husband of blond Countess Talmadge and later as the first spouse of the former Lila Emery, a Midwestern heiress whose beautiful sister was once the wife of the Russian Grand Duke Dmitri.

So it is not unlikely that the Captain noted that the bent elbow was Palm Beach's high sign and that its citizens started the day with aspirin and a whisky chaser. Anyway, the Alibi Bar on Worth avenue has been successful beyond the dreams of avarice. During the height of the winter season, it is virtually impossible to get into the place unless you know the Captain well enough to call him "Allie."

Nothing succeeds like success even in the drinking business, which is the reason Mackintosh now finds himself out on Flushing Meadows, manager of the Palm Beach Bar on the World's Fair Midway.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

By Wynn

For Friday, Aug. 18. GOOD start, with above average judgment, today—lasting till late in the afternoon; but the later hours begin a vibration of selfishness that could lead to trouble if indulged in; caution is advised in emotional reactions and with elders.

The Greatest Wonder. In the Hall of Man at the World's Fair is that great quotation from St. Augustine: "Man wonders over the restless sea, the flowing water, the sight of the sky, and forgets that of all wonders Man himself is the most wonderful." If all we looked at were the physical man, this statement would still be true. But when we observe the mental man and the emotional man, we are truly amazed.

Your Year Ahead. Your year ahead ties up love and duty, with possible terminations of eventual benefit if you go slowly, wisely—same with any new factors in your occupation or marriage.

Danger: March 21-April 1; and from Aug. 1, 1940.

Saturday. Choose path carefully between head and heart; head the better adviser.

Those Asked To Aid Child Need Facts

Truthful Answers Enable Better Diagnosis of Troubles or Abilities.
By Angelo Patri

WHEN you want your child to get the help he needs from the professional people who are prepared to assist him, tell the truth about him. That is the first step in securing the right care for him. If the teacher or the doctor or dentist or clergyman start work on a false understanding it is safe to say that the work won't take. Begin right.

This is especially important when entering a child, of whatever age or condition, in a school. Tell the person in charge the truth about the child. Don't falsify his age. In the first place the falsehood will not alter the fact, and often the child's age is an indication of his ability to begin work, or carry work, and if the teacher has the wrong idea only the child suffers for it. Don't falsify a child's birth record lest it come back some day to trouble you. Birth records are used many times in a lifetime and it is wise to have them accurate, say for passport use, or military service. Even from a practical point alone the truth serves best. And it helps children more than any lie can ever be forced to do.

When you are trying to get help for a backward child, tell the whole story. Answer the questions asked you as truthfully as you can. Hiding the facts means hindering the doctor and the teacher. When they begin work with the child they soon verify your story and if it is false they must begin again. Time is wasted, and along with the time something as valuable, the faith and the respect of those whose help you enlisted.

Telling a teacher that a child has always been truthful, honest, brave and responsible, when your very reason for taking him to the teacher is his directly opposite behavior, does not serve at all. The child will soon tell his own tale in his behavior, the teacher will understand and begin to work against his weaknesses and toward his strength. The untruth is useless and is very wrong to tell outsiders the faults or weaknesses of children, to gossip about them at any time. But it is quite as wrong to hide those defects when seeking help for the children. Tell the truth to those whose duty it is to cure them, but conceal them from unhelpful strangers. Don't talk about them even in the family. Error grows by acceptance. Refuse to accept it. If you talk about it as something settled and real, you help fix it upon the child. Set about getting help and screen the child who needs it.

What is one to say to the child himself? As little as possible.

ON BROADWAY

By Walter Winchell

PHIL BAKER says he was in a subway train reading a paper. He felt that something peculiar was going on in the seat opposite him. Glancing up, he saw that the fellow opposite had a pigeon on his head and one on each shoulder. "Hey," said Baker, "what's with the pigeons?" "I dunno," was the reply. "They got on me at Fifth street."

The Metro ad chief, Howard Dietz, took a Clipper to Europe the other day. When he stepped off at London he was asked how he liked the flight. "Too slow!" snapped Howard.

George M. Cohan is another baseball. While riding in a taxi with George Jessel, the cab man turned on a night baseball game. "Do you like night baseball, George?" asked Jessel. "N-h-n," replied Cohan a little grimly, "the peanuts don't taste the same."

The column phoned the veddy swankish Lido and asked to speak with Jimmy Durante. "So soddy," said the operator, "there's no one here by that name." "But," we butted, "I know he's there—talked with him an hour ago. He's the actor with the nose." "Oh, I beg your pod'n," she replied. "I'll connect you with Mr. James Doo-rahn!"

They'd have you believe it happened on the Normandie. A chap went to the ship's huge swimming pool and found another fellow diving for all he was worth. "Looking for something?" he asked. "Yes," said the other, "I'm diving for pearls."

Just as the first gent decided that the other was nutz, the diver added: "My wife lost them here last night."

Add Picturesque Reporting: From the N. Y. Mirror's sports pages, about his trouble. He must face it squarely. He must know that he fails in behavior or work, and at the same time he must know that with help, mostly from his own strong desire to improve, he can do better. He cannot be told that he is a success because that would show how to get it. He can be trained to hope, to wish for success, and to work, under direction, to get it.

The first step always is for the parent to tell the truth as far as he knows it to those he depends upon for help.

On Hay Fever By a Doctor

Physicians Themselves Are Afflicted—Apparently Hereditary.

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

LEANED from Dr. Warren T. Vaughan's recently published book on Allergy, the following notes on Hay Fever:

Hereditary. Hay fever in twins. Among six pairs of identical twins, three pairs both had hay fever. In the cases of two pairs, the mothers also had it. In a pair of identical twins, one was sensitive to pollen, one to food.

In two other sets, both twins had asthma. One pair was adult and did not remember the date of onset. In the other pair—children—the onset of asthma was 10 months and 11 months.

A personal observation of mine concerns two sisters. One had fall hay fever from the age of 15. The other was free until the age of 28, though exposed to the same environment. Then she developed severe hay fever—fall and spring type both.

The doctors have it. Every doctor who has made important contributions to the study of hay fever had the disease himself.

John Bostock, of Liverpool, described in 1819 his own case of a "Periodical Affection of the Eyes and Chest," which came on in the middle of June every year and lasted until the middle of July. It consisted of inflammation of the eyes, "irritation of the nose, producing sneezing, which occurs in fits of extreme violence." He was allergic to grasses, the common type of hay fever in England.

John Elliston, professor of medicine at London University, knew "a very sensible and superior woman who thought it was the pollen that caused her hay fever and a rash on her hands." He said this sarcastically, but afterward was convinced that hay fever was caused by "farina" (pollen). Bostock did not know the cause.

In America, Morrill Wyman, professor of medicine in Harvard, himself suffered severe attacks, and proved that the ragweed was the cause of fall hay fever by wrapping some in a paper, carrying it to the White Mountains, and on opening it induced an attack in all the members of his family (1870).

W. F. Dunbar, of Hamburg, Germany, in 1895, and R. C. Lowdermilk of Galena, Kan., in 1911, gave pollen extracts to themselves to relieve their own hay fever; Dr. Lowdermilk, the first in the United States.

How far can hay fever follow you? Abbott Smith described a hay fever victim who on a boat far from land developed symptoms when the sails which had previously been furled were raised. Pollen grains lodged in the folds were liberated.

Col. Lindbergh, on his North Atlantic flight, found that air currents distribute clouds of pollen.

An air current caught up and deposited a cloud of pollen in St. Louis so that the ground looked as if it had been sprinkled with sulphur.

Is hay fever increasing? As I remember back I cannot recall ever having heard of hay fever in my boyhood. And this is confirmed by others of my contemporaries. I certainly never heard of it in medical school.

The first time my attention was focused on the subject was when Dr. Lowdermilk of my neighboring state of Kansas read a paper on the subject before the county medical society.

Ragweed, the common cause of fall hay fever, is a product of civilization. It prefers to grow in cultivated fields. Hay fever would thus naturally follow in the wake of more settled communities.

Questions and Answers. B. F. G.: "Is the flow of natural lubricants lessened or injured by the use either of mineral oil or petroleum seed?" Answer: No.

L. T. Q.: "My 11-year-old daughter had the bad luck of bringing lice home from school and I just don't know what to do to rid her of this humiliating affair."

Answer—I assume that the lice are on the hair of the head. They may be on any part of the body. A very good way to kill off the animals and devitalize the ova is to apply raw petroleum mixed with equal parts of olive oil. It should be thoroughly applied to the scalp for one or two nights, followed in the morning by a shampoo with soap and water or tincture of green soap. In a child 11 years old probably it is possible to sacrifice the hair entirely and then treat the scalp with ointment of ammoniated mercury. If the hair is not sacrificed, a fine-toothed comb should be assiduously used to detach the nits.

Pure Linen Always buy pure linen for kitchen towels. You will find them more absorbent and great labor savers, for grease and spots are washed out much easier than from cotton towels.

Dirty Pockets Before putting house dresses, aprons and rompers into the wash, turn the pockets inside out and brush with a stiff brush. They will be easier to wash and look much better when ironed.

Irritated Eyelids? Bathe them with Lavoptik. Prompt relief. Use also for immediate relief of inflamed, sore, itching eyes—or when eyes feel tired or strained. No harmful drugs. 25 years success. Get Lavoptik today. (Eye-cup included.) All druggists.

DEAR MRS. POST: There is something that has been worrying me for a long time, and now I must make up my mind just what I am going to do about it. My fiancée doesn't know how old I am, and when we go to get our license I don't know whether to tell the truth or just forget a year or two because he is a year younger than I am (but he doesn't look it). I hate to have him know I am older, and it is such a little "white lie" that I can't see that it would matter much if I didn't give my exact age this one time.

Answer: At first this would seem like a very simple thing to do. But you might remember one thing: A lie—even a little one—can run so fast there isn't a chance in the world it won't catch up with you! Even if it isn't any one's concern whether or not you "forget" a year or two when you get your license, sooner or later—it's almost certain—some old family friend will spoil it all by saying in front of your husband, "Jane'll be 28 on her seventh! I know, because she was born when I was waiting for Hughie, and his birthday is fourteenth. He's just one year younger!"

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it bad to serve meat sauce or catsup in their bottles at the table? The sauce would be especially difficult to take out of its own container. Answer: Catsup bottles have place on an attractive set, and if I were you, I would buy a few and use them. You can find plenty of pretty and inexpensive ones in most every glassware department. Dear Mrs. Post: A strange woman stands aside and allows a man to go ahead, does she show him or is this courtesy to be granted?

Answer: Of course she should not. Always thank everyone, anywhere, for any act of courtesy.

Put Away Dry Cleaning clothes should be washed out after using and then thoroughly dried before putting away. In their dampened state they are most attractive to roaches and almost always become rank and unpleasant and of no further use in the cleaning line.

The Maid's Room Encourage the maid to keep her room clean and in order, even your guests never see it. Give time to attend to her own domain and she is much more apt to be contented, at the same time helping along the sanitary condition of the house.

In going out with him, you are in company with several informal gatherings, don't judge a boy by the tastes in entertainment.

Dear Martha Carr: I NOTICED in your column about a school for practical. Does this school take education. I took a doctor complimented me at this so late in life?

This young man probably asking you to the prom but have reason to expect him in one of these times when he previously engaged you if he would call ahead of time to see you because of some ulterior motives now your suspicions.

SUMMER DAY. THE fruit was heavy bought; Summer was at its ze you could hear the corn with a ticking sound. You could feel life flow up from the ground. And down in the meadow wherever you'd pass, you could see life hopping in the grass. Everything was warm and full of life; The fields, the cows, the farmer's wife, even the old dog and the summer sweet and the dream of the wagon-seat. —Richard C.

Other Members of the Cast Have High Praise for Hope Manning, Who Will Play a Leading Role in Next Week's Municipal Opera.
By Virginia Irwin

MEMBERS of the cast of "Victoria and Her Hussar," next week's Municipal Opera offering, are saying these days that the bright-eyed and eye-filling Hope Manning will be nothing short of terrific in her role of O. L. San. For the part of the little Japanese girl, the bit player and the "Gentlemen Unafraid." She's combed a black wig and speaks and sings in a jargon of authentic Japanese and pidgin English. She has one number in particular, a catchy little thing, called "Mousey," that is guaranteed in advance to give the cash customers handclap blisters. "Mousey" was a sensation in Europe," Hope said as she sat for a wig fitting, "but there are plenty of other good numbers in the show. In fact, 'Victoria' has a great deal of music—good music. St. Louis loves a lot of music in its opera production, and in this show they will get a little of everything—gypsy, Russian, lot of Viennese, a little Japanese and some popular old-fashioned rhythm. The story of 'Victoria and Her Hussar' may be a little flimsy, but its beautiful music more than makes up for this."

Born Inez Harvot, Hope Manning is a mixture of French and Irish, and Cincinnati, she says, can claim the honor—"if there's any there" of being her birthplace. At along about the pitiful stage in her life, the family moved to California and Hope got her early musical training in Los Angeles. Then she went to the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y., where she studied under the famous Adelin Fernin, voice coach to John Charles Thomas.

DURING her student days, Hope was entrusted with such professional engagements as the role of Kate to Quenna Mario's "Butterfly" with the Rochester Civic Music Association, the part of Maid Marian in "Robin Hood" with the same organization, and also made numerous radio and concert appearances. During a year of post-graduate work she appeared with both the Philharmonic Orchestra and the Civic Opera Co., and then, diploma in hand, she descended upon New York and landed a role in "The Great Waltz."

When that show took to the road, she toured with it for its first season and then came here to our Municipal Opera as principal understudy and player of bit parts for a summer. During this hard and publicly unappreciated summer, Hope was chosen personally by Jerome Kern and Oscar Hammerstein to play the leading feminine role in "Gentlemen Unafraid," which had its world premiere in Forest Park last summer.

On the strength of her performance as Linda Mason in the Kern-Hammerstein story of two childhood sweethearts separated by the Civil War, Hope was brought back this year.

But in between these Municipal Opera engagements Hope sandwiched a personal success in New York after landing the coveted role of Eulalie Bland in the American Lyric Theater's production of "Susanna, Don't You Cry," a couple of movies for Republic Pictures and appeared with John Charles Thomas in both San Francisco and Los Angeles in "The Gypsy Baron."

Of her picture work, Hope says little and you gather that her heart is more at home in opera, concert and oratorio. She made "Two Wise Maids" with Allison Skipworth, and "Michael O'Halloran" with Wynne Gibson and Warren Hull, and she dictated eight pounds off her usual weight.

"Action," orders Director George Archinbaud, and "timely," the chubby Tamiroff stumbles forward, juggling 185 pounds of Milland. He reaches the canoe and deposits his burden more or less gently.

"Fine," compliments Archinbaud, "now we'll take it."

"What!" screams Tamiroff, "you mean you didn't film it?"

"Only a rehearsal," replied Archinbaud, "come on now, boys, shake a leg."

It is doubtful if Tamiroff, the man of many faces, ever gave to the screen a look to compare with the one he bestowed on his director.

Points Alone Are Objective In Contract

Player May Get Them by Own Game, or Setting Opponents.

By Ely Culbertson

"DEAR MR. CULBERTSON: To experienced and talented players my question is undoubtedly so simple that it is self-evident, but to us, not in that enviable class, I think a discussion of the problem involved would be very enlightening."

"I am the one dub in an otherwise brilliant, not to say spectacular (the others all are men) foursome, and am tolerated only because I am usually harmless. At last night's game both sides are vulnerable. We had 40 on game and our opponents had 90. Then this hand was dealt:

♠KQJ1074	♠A8
♥9	♥KQ754
♦Q106	♦K72
♣964	♣753
NORTH	EAST
WEST	SOUTH
♠632	♠AJ102
♥AJ102	♥AJ83
♦AJ83	♦A10

"I was South. My partner dealt and opened with two spades. East overcalled with three hearts. At this point I did not know whether my partner's bid was fanciful or merely 'to score.' Knowing his style, I suspected the latter, so decided to pass and await developments. West passed and North said three spades. East passed. I did likewise, and West now bid four hearts. There were two more passes, and I doubled. The contract was set five, 1400 points."

"My opponents were highly indignant, in fact, were fit to be tied. They both said I had no right to pass when I held such a strong hand; that I was unethical and 'dirty bridge' to set the opponents when we should have bid and made a game. They declared that the sole purpose of bridge is to score rubbers and not to lie in wait for the opponents' ill advised bids. To all of which I meekly replied that in bridge games one sometimes has to decide which is more beneficial to one's side, the rubber or a penalty, but I was shouted down. I suppose I might have sent out a warning to my opponents and doubled the three heart bid which I was reasonably sure of setting, but that didn't seem very astute. Is my theory of getting as many points as one can, regardless, all wrong, or are my opponents, both brilliant men, excellent players, and very shrewd bidders, just trying to talk me out of a good thing—Mrs. J. C., New Jersey."

The above letter has made me very unhappy, as anything is bound to do that irreparably wounds my sex pride. My deep humiliation is not lightened by the suspicion that my feminine correspondent is not nearly as naive as her demure words suggest, but is gently pulling the legs of not only the supermen with whom she played but, by indirection, my leg also.

We can, I think, pass over the technical aspects of the bidding reported. Obviously, North's two spade opening was almost a psychic, aimed at stealing the rubber on a part score. South, with that amazing feminine intuition that is once the envy and the despair of all mere men, unerringly sensed what was going on. Perhaps her own three and one-half honor tricks, plus a vulnerable overcall from East, acted as a material guide. But this is aside from the issue, which is purely ethical and philosophical. The men, we are told, set up the thesis that it is "dirty bridge" to set the opponents when one could have bid and made game on one's own, elaborating this with the contention that the sole purpose of bridge is to score rubbers.

Gentlemen, gentlemen! You may be, as your de facto emanations proclaim you, brilliant men, excellent players, and very shrewd bidders, but I strongly suggest that you inquire a little more closely into the objective of a bridge game. This is very simple: to score all the points possible. Nothing more, nothing less. If you can induce your opponents, through any measure short of feeding them liquor or dope, to make absurd bids or, worse, don't play, you can double and ruin them, more power to you!

It may come as a surprise, but I do assure you that bridge is a game and a contest, not a Boy Scout drill.

GOOD-BY TO VIENNA

CHAPTER ELEVEN.
MARIAN paid the money and took over the precious packages with a wild elation. Now all was set for her adventure except for convincing Franz that it was safe for her to travel alone to Riga. She would not tell Gisela what she had done till it was a fait accompli. It would be a marvelous surprise for her.

Herr Speyer let her out again with a repetition of his Hapsburg period ceremony. It was all so convincing that the little demon of doubt did not begin to harass Marian till she was on the way home.

Suppose he were false. An informer. Suppose he had cheated her about the stamps. But no, he couldn't have. She had seen the catalogs, and they couldn't all be fakes. But suppose he told someone and they would be watching for her to take the stamps from her on the train.

Franz was at the apartment on the Kai waiting for her. "The laboratory is closed temporarily," he told her bleakly. "The boss has disappeared over night. The inference is that he's helping to overcrowd the central prison."

"O, Franz darling!"
"Don't worry about me. You're as nervous as a wild bird in a human hand. You're trembling all over. What's the matter?"

She was tempted for one weak moment to tell him, but restrained herself. She knew what the result would be. He would not let her take the risk and, after all, there might not be any.

"It's nothing, Franz—I mean it's everything. How can I walk in my darling lovely Vienna and see such things and remain the same?"
"I know. I told you it would never do for you to stay."

This was her chance. "You were partly right. While it's all in a state of flux and the conservatory closed I might as well go away on a little vacation."

He looked dubious and startled. "Where, for instance?"

Marian pointed to the open map on Frau Hadwiger's table. "Let's go to the Baltic beaches, the old Russian towns, the forests. I'd like to see them."

He surprised her. "It's a happy choice. It's one of the few consulates not besieged by armies of refugees. Not that that would make it difficult for an American citizen."

There was a catch somewhere waiting for her. It was all too easy. Then you'd come with me to the consul?"

"No, darling. I'm Austrian. My foster father has been in trouble with the Nazis party and is now dead. Go alone as a nonpartisan American visitor and you will have no trouble. My help might only complicate things for you."

"That's true." But she was regretful. "What about Gisela?" It is all right to come and see her to say au revoir?"
"I think not. And I don't think she'd want to see you yet. She's as brave as a lion, as you can imagine, but it breaks my heart to care of yourself, darling. You're very precious."

"How lovely to be precious to the person you love most in the world. Franz, I don't want to leave you."

"But I'm glad you're going."

They clung together for a long time before he left her to jump down on the platform. The high train began to move slowly out. Marian hung out of the window till she could not see Franz any more, then closed it and pulled down the blind. She opened her dressing case to get out her night things. Among her lingerie lay the stamp album and the little envelope. Her money was very dry, and a queer sensation fluttered in her stomach. Suppose that man had taken the money and informed about her. Suppose the bitterest disappointment, the deepest humiliation, her life waited for her on this train? The wheels began rhythmically. In a few hours—in a few hours—you will know—you will know—faster—faster—you will know.

The guard was friendly and smiling. "I wish I didn't have to disturb you," he said genially, "but they'll have to search your luggage. They're being very thorough just now. When they're coming along, I'll let you know."

"Thank you," she said, smiling with difficulty.

"I'm just a coward," she told herself as she undressed in the narrow confines of the sleeper, glad that she had it to herself. She looked at the innocent-looking stamp collection as if it were a venomous snake that would bite her. "Should I take it out? Should I put it under the mattress? Should I hide it?"

Reason saved her. If they were watching for her they would search, and any such behavior would be evidence of guilt. If they were not, what could be more innocent than a few foreign stamps among the possessions of a young American girl? They were less impressive than the concealed pearls that lay warmly around her neck.

She was awake when the guard came to tell her that the officers were coming. The one who stood in her doorway was stern and bored, but he treated her with stern politeness. It occurred to her to conceal the fact that she spoke fluent German. It made no difference. He began to speak fluent English. How much money had she? How much had she brought in? How much was she taking out? He looked at her credit note. And what remained of her traveler's checks bought in New York? They talked with the amounts officially entered on her passport by the Nazi commissioner. He turned her clothes over in her dressing case, completely uninterested in the stamps. Had she any other bags? Where? Open them, please. Any money in them? No. He was satisfied at last, and unsmilingly departed. Everything was all right.

Marian shut the door and bolted it. Sat down on the edge of her little bed. She had laughed at Franz when he had brought the small flask of cognac brandy, and she would rather die than drink any. Now she felt she would die if she didn't. She poured some out in the glass from the
